

MORE IMPORTANT FEATURES OF NEW CHARTER EXPLAINED

Board of Health and Supervisor of School Hygiene---The Budget and Auditing Commission---Board of Assessors and the Commissions

In the following article from the charter commission, two of the most important features of the new charter are explained, namely, the health board and the director of school hygiene and the budget and auditing commission. These features are new and were not objected to by the commission on cities. The commission believes the school hygiene will afford much greater protection to the children and that the budget and auditing commission will result in effecting a great saving in preventing extravagance.

Functions of the Board of Health

Section 21--Provides for a board of health of three members. The present membership is terminated with the new charter, and successors are nominated and confirmed for terms of one, two and three years respectively, and thereafter for the term of three years. Present powers and duties of the board of health are continued, and in addition complete control and management of the isolation hospital is placed under the supervision of the board of health, which includes the appointment of a superintendent and all subordinate employees. An important change is to be noted in directing the board of health to organize and establish a sub department to be known as the department of school hygiene. The board shall appoint a director of school hygiene who shall be a physician of reputable standing and possession of special training and experience in public health service. He shall devote his entire time to the service of the city. Under the direction of the board of health he shall exercise supervision of school nurses and other physicians that may be appointed for special school work and put in effect reasonable health regulations that will tend to minimize and prevent the spread of communicable diseases among school children of the entire city. It shall be the duty of the director of school hygiene to keep a record of the names of all school children affected with communicable diseases as same are reported to the board of health, and to issue after an examination a certificate of health certifying that a child is free from communicable disease before being eligible to return to school. The salary of the director of school hygiene shall be established by the board of health. All powers and duties now exercised by the school committee relative to the health and medical inspection and supervision of schools and school children are transferred to the board of health.

Medical Supervision of Schools

The commission has provided for a more perfect and thorough medical supervision of our school children with the object of preventing as far as possible the spread of communicable diseases. This important work has been transferred to the board of health instead of remaining with the school committee who vote thousands of dollars away in salaries, but never seem to give much thought to health supervision of school children. The board of health with greater powers of health control can perform this work more efficiently. The only medical supervision, if it can be called such, that now prevails is the appointment of three or four physicians at a salary of about $200 a year, who are supposed to exercise a more or less haphazard supervision. The director of school hygiene must be a full-time serving physician who will give his entire time to the service of the city and possessed of special knowledge in school and health hygiene work. The board of health may also appoint one or more temporary or permanent physicians to assist the director of school hygiene in special work in the conduct of the department. Communicable diseases become epidemic among children often times because they are not checked at the start by the enforcement of reasonable rules and regulations.

Board of Assessors

Section 24--Relates to the board of assessors. Present membership shall terminate and successors shall be nominated and confirmed in the same manner and for the same terms as the board of health. Present powers and duties not affected.

Boards, and Commissions

Sections 25-28--Relates to the board of park commissioners, board of license commissioners, board of election commissioners and board of library trustees. Present membership of these boards shall remain in office until their respective terms expire, and no change in tenure of office or duties as now exercised.

Budget and Auditing Commission

Section 29--Provides for a budget and auditing commission of three citizens, not members of the city council or employees of the city, nominated by the mayor, and confirmed by the city council, for terms of one, two and three years respectively and thereafter for terms of three years. The salary shall be established by the city council, but must not exceed $500 a year for each member. This board shall assist the mayor in the preparation of the annual budget, and for this purpose may examine all books and records of departments and submit to the mayor their recommendations of respective amounts which make up the budget. The mayor, however, is not obliged to accept such recommendations, or include same in his budget as submitted to the city council. Their duties as relates to the preparation of the annual budget are advisory only. The auditing commission shall also examine and certify for payment, if found to be correct, all invoices, bills and payments due or presented for payment by the several departments. If they withhold approval the mayor shall notify the city auditor who shall not approve any bill or invoice or payment due until such time as it is approved by a majority of the auditing commission.

Auditing the Bills

This is one of the most important sections of the new charter. Hundreds of monthly bills are presented in the course of a year against the city for payment. The fact that but little is ever heard or said about the correctness of these bills does not mean that they are proper and correct and should be paid without question. The approval of monthly bills now is simply a perfunctory matter. Each commissioner dumps his monthly bills upon the table for approval by the city council and no commissioner offends the others by failure to approve. If he does, perhaps his own bills may be questioned. They are all approved without comment. After this loose and indifferent method of approval the only man who stands between the City of Lowell and the payment of an improper bill is the city auditor and he is not going to incur the displeasure of the city council very often by refusing to approve their official action to the payment of a bill, although in justice to the present city auditor it must be said that he has been quite fearless in this respect. The commission believes that three men, disinterested citizens, who do not care a rap whom they offend, and removed from the atmosphere of city hall, should look over and approve the monthly bills presented against the city before they are certified by the auditor for payment. It will check heads of departments presenting improper bills for payment. If they know their bills will have to pass the inspection and analysis of three disinterested citizens serving on such a board, and not afraid to ask questions.

The next article will explain the duties of the new board of public service.

OLD FRIGATE BURNED

Granite State, Once the
Pride of the Navy Destroyed
in Spectacular Blaze

NEW YORK, May 24.--The New York naval training ship Granite State, once the pride of the navy, yesterday was burned to the water's edge in a spectacular fire in which sailors dived through port holes after flooding the magazine.

The wooden old frigate for years had lain in the Hudson river, moored at Riverside Drive and 5th street, a few feet from the landing at which President Harding yesterday came ashore from the Mayflower.

Seamen on the presidential yacht saw the Granite State suddenly enveloped in flames. Firemen later concluded that a break in an oil pipe under the river had coated the water with a thick film and that a motor boat, back-firing, had set the oil ablaze.

Soon the flames spread to the deck and threatened naval militia barracks nearby and the State Nautical school training ship Newport, moored alongside. The Newport was hastily towed into midstream.

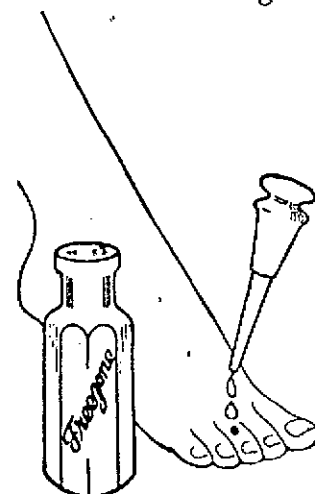

Sailors aboard the Granite State sought to fight the blaze, but the oil-fed flames ate into the sides of the old frigate and soon she listed hard to port. After flooding the magazine, in which was stored blank ammunition used for saluting purposes, the men aboard her jumped for safety, many being forced to work their way through port holes. In a few seconds the water was dotted with sailor lads, all of whom were hauled safely ashore. The firemen, helped by volunteers, from the hundreds of seamen enjoying shore leave from the destroyers anchored offshore, leaped onto the old training ship, in a vain effort to save her. She was a narrow escape when the chains that held her to her dock, snapped and she rolled over on her side.

The Granite State, formerly the U. S. S. New Hampshire, had a service record extending back more than 100 years. Her keel was laid in Kittery, Me., she was commissioned in 1815 in the presence of James Monroe, fifth president of the United States, and saw varied duty until yesterday, when she was viewed for the last time by the country's 29th chief executive, Warren G. Harding.

She was on the battle line during the Civil war, but when she was replaced by the steel fighting craft that now bears her former name, she reverted to training purposes, eventually passing from federal to state control. Twice she returned briefly to federal service--once during the Spanish war and again during the world conflict.

"Wear-Ever" utensils keep food flavor IN and fuel costs DOWN

Hence, "Wear-Ever" utensils require LESS FUEL and cook the food with greater uniformity and better flavor. For best results with the "Wear-Ever" Fry Pan:

1. Place fry pan over MEDIUM flame.
2. When pan is hot, REDUCE flame ONE-HALF.
3. Add fat (when method of cooking requires it.)
4. Add food and cook slowly.

when she was used as a receiving ship.

About 15 years ago, when she could no longer go to sea under her own power, she was moored to the wharf at which she was burned. Stripped of her towering masts and spread of white sail, she was decked over and fitted up as a training quarters for naval reservists. From her moorings at 37th street the old vessel had seen the growth of the American navy from her own heyday of wooden sailing craft to the present electrically driven steel Tennessee, as her station in the Hudson has been opposite the accepted anchorage ground of American war vessels on their visits to this port.

PLANS FOR MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Plans for the memorial exercises to be held by the camp in company with other military organizations next Sunday and Monday were perfected by members of Gen. Adelbert Ames camp, U.S.W.V., at its regular meeting in Memorial hall last evening.

Commander P. J. Burns was in the chair and one application was received and three members mustered in. The annual outing of the camp will be held on Labor day. Dr. Clarence B. Livingston was mustered in as camp surgeon.

Next Saturday afternoon the graves of deceased members will be decorated in the various cemeteries by the Memorial day committee and those desiring to assist will report to Commander Burns in the Edison cemetery at 1.30.

On Sunday the members of the camp will meet in Memorial hall at 10 a. m. and march in a body to St. Peter's church to attend memorial services. The ladies' auxiliary will meet the camp at the church. At 2.15 the comrades will again assemble in Memorial hall to take part in the G.A.R. services in the First Congregational church.

The general order for Monday, Memorial day, which embraces a program similar to that to be followed by the Lowell post of the American Legion, previously published, are as follows:

Memorial Day--May 30

The comrades will assemble at Memorial hall at 9.15 a. m. sharp, and march in a body to the South common to take part with the American Legion in the memorial mass.

The following are detailed for duty: Comrade Frank Rigg as chief musician to report to the officer of the day at 12.15 p. m. sharp; Comrades Walter R. Jex and Carroll L. Pingree as adjutants to report to the officer of the day at 12.15; Comrades Carl H. Lambert and John F. McBride to report to Color Sergeant Frank Hotchkiss at Memorial hall.

Comrades Frank J. Donovan, Louis W. Lapan and James J. Noonan in regulation police uniform to report at Memorial hall at 12.15 p. m. sharp to act as band escort, to report to chief musician of Bagley's band.

All comrades are requested to make special effort to take part in the parade to the cemeteries.

Formation will be taken at 12.45 and on the arrival of Post 57, American Legion, who will act as our escort to the cemeteries, will immediately take up the march.

The parade will be reviewed at city hall by His Honor the mayor and the municipal council.

Proceeding to St. Patrick's cemetery when the parade will be dismissed to allow each organization to hold its services.

The camp will then proceed to the soldiers' lot in St. Patrick's cemetery.

On the completion of the ceremonies at that place the Edison cemetery will be visited and services will be held at the soldiers' lot.

Ceremonies completed at the cemetery, the parade will be taken up and will proceed direct to the South common, for formation in the parade with the Grand Army.

After passing in review and the main body disbanded, the command will at once march to Memorial hall for refreshments.

Following the refreshments there will be addresses by prominent speakers and entertainment.

IN GENERAL

All provisions of the order, of whatever nature, will be strictly adhered to, subject, however, to unforeseen circumstances, causing change.

The comrades with clergy and disabled comrades will report to honorary Member Comrade Arthur E. Salmon at Memorial hall at 12.15 p. m.

The Bagley band will report to the officer of the day at Memorial hall promptly at 12.40 p. m.

The Mendelssohn male quartet will report at St. Patrick's cemetery at 1.30 p. m. to render appropriate selections with the services.

The uniform or the day: Regulation uniform, service uniform and civilian clothes, and all with white gloves.

Only members of the U.S.W.V. taking part in the parade and Ladies' auxiliary will be admitted to participate in the exercises. No children allowed.

JAPAN WOULD DISCUSS MANDATE WITH U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The state department has received from Japan a reply to the note dispatched by Secretary of State Hughes on April 6 on the subject of the mandate over the island of Yap, in which the United States took the position that Yap could not be disposed of without its consent.

The understanding of officials here is that Japan has not taken a definitive position on the Yap question. Inquiries at the Japanese Embassy developed the fact that no information concerning Yap has passed through the embassy. The communication received by the state department, therefore, came from the American embassy at Tokyo.

It was indicated in authoritative quarters that the United States is satisfied with the progress that is being made toward a solution of the Yap problem.

The text of the communication was not made public. The fact that satisfactory progress is being made indicates that Japan has shown no disposition to close the door to further discussion. The note is understood to have been phrased in courteous language, in marked contrast with the communication to which Secretary Hughes' note of April 6 was a reply. It is understood that Japan has suggested the advisability of a direct discussion between Washington and Tokyo, rather than between the United States and all the allies. Japan maintains that no position as previously set forth was perfectly correct under the circumstances then existing, but that Mr. Hughes' note raised new questions, placing the American contentions on a new basis which must be examined.

It is unlikely that the United States will consent to discuss only with Japan, its position being that as a co-victor in the war and as one of the principally allied and associated powers America must give her consent to the disposition of any of Germany's former overseas possessions, the Versailles treaty having specifically surrendered them to the principal allied and associated powers.

No Confirmation of Fight
WASHINGTON, May 24.—Neither the navy department nor state department had received confirmation yesterday of the reported fight between American and Japanese sailors at Shanghai, China.

Secretary Denby was sure that if a serious clash had occurred he would have been promptly notified by Admiral Strauss, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

The inclination here was to believe that if a clash occurred it was between parties of sailors on shore leave and probably without any special significance.

The United States department of agriculture is conducting a steamship to use as a practical laboratory in which to study the shipping of citrus fruits and apples from the Pacific coast to eastern markets by way of the Panama Canal. Cargo space will be divided into compartments having various conditions of temperature, humidity and ventilation.

A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE

West Duxton (Me.)—Read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's painful experience: "I am a mother of five children. My little girl two years old was so sick with fever she lay just as if she were dead for two weeks. I started giving her Dr. Tru's Elixir and she began to gain at once. Now I would not be without it. I feel very grateful to you."
No doubt this child had some stomach trouble due to worms. Scores of children have worms and their mothers don't know the trouble.
Common symptoms of worms: Distended stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, itching of the nose and rectum, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points on the tongue, slow fever.
Dr. Tru's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as family laxative and Worm Expeller since 1851.—Adv.

GOV. COX HAS DOUBTS ON MOVIE CENSORSHIP

BOSTON, May 24.—Governor Cox yesterday took under advisement objections to an act to establish state censorship of motion pictures which is awaiting his signature.
At the close of a public hearing on the measure, which would give the commissioner of public safety jurisdiction over all films, the governor announced that his doubts had been aroused as to the bill's constitutionality on legal points brought forward by J. Albert Brackett, counsel for the opponents. Mr. Brackett asserted that as written, the measure "would forbid showing picture reels at all" and that the commissioner "would have to personally view every film" of a normal 10,000 a week shown in 700 theatres throughout the state.
Summing up his remarks, Brackett said that "there are the same constitutional objections against this bill this year which last year induced Governor Coolidge to veto a similar measure."
"I can understand how the state can regulate water and milk and things that have to do with the body," Governor Cox said, "but it is not clear to me where you would have the state step with relation to the morals of the people."

SOLICITOR SAYS CITY SAVED MONEY

"If interest on money amounts to anything in these days and if it has in the financial years recently passed, a careful analysis of the sums of money involved in the land taking in Dummer street, which dates back almost five and one-half years, seems to show that while the city's just been ordered by the court to pay to the Merrill and Dempsey estates sums in settlement considerably in excess of the amounts quoted in 1916, in the long run the city has emerged a winner," said City Solicitor William D. Regan today. It seems only fair to figure in interest on the money for the past four and one-half years, at say a rate of either 5 or 6 per cent.
"It will be recalled that the Merrill estate would have settled its claim in 1916 for $2772 and the Dempsey estate would have been satisfied with payments of $5055 and $2560, the three items totalling $10,387. (In all these amounts the odd cents have been disregarded.)
"Judgment against the city in the grand total of $12,670 recently was returned in the superior court by a jury, sitting on the case. This is about $2300 in excess of the amount that the claims could have been settled for in 1916.
"If the interest for 4½ years is computed on $10,387 at 6 per cent, the result is $2796.60. Add this to the principal and the result is $13,153.60. Now subtract the recent award of $12,670 and it is found that the city actually saved $483 by contesting the case.
"But 6 per cent. is a high rate of interest, you say. Very well, let us drop to 5 per cent. (and it only is fair to say that the prevailing rate has been about 5½ per cent. for the past five years) and what is found? Computed at 5 per cent, there is an actual saving to the city of approximately $17.
"That is not much of a saving, to be true, but it stands on the 'games won' side of the standing, rather than on the side of the 'games lost.'"

TWO MONTHS IN JAIL

Westford Man Gets Direct Sentence For Operating Auto While Under Influence of Liquor

Two months in jail for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was the sentence imposed today by Judge Hendrich in the police court, on Alcock Robinson, 35, of Westford. The defendant was arrested by Officers Burke, Conway and Mahoney, on the evening of Saturday, May 14. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. One of the arresting officers testified this morning that Robinson was driving his machine on Waipple street, and was taken into custody just as he was going into the Wameet garage. There was one extenuating circumstance, the officer stated the defendant was not going very fast. Through counsel, the defendant appealed from the house of correction sentence, and was bailed in the sum of $200 for his appearance June 1 in the superior court at Cambridge.

Judge Atwood Declares South
May Lead Way Back to Sanity and Safety

ATLANTA, Ga., May 23.—On the 71st anniversary of his birth, memorial services were held here today for Henry W. Grady, newspaper editor and orator, whose writings and speeches in reconstruction days both in the north and south did much to clear away misunderstandings between the states. At the time of his death, in 1893, he was managing editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

The program included the unveiling of the monument of late by Betty Black, his granddaughter, and the playing of a wreath at its base. Full military honors were rendered by confederate and union veterans as well as veterans of the world war.

The orator of the day was J. J. Atwood, a Kansas City jurist and representative of many states were present. The University of Georgia at Athens, announced in connection with the celebration, the establishment of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism in his honor. He was a graduate of the University.

Volting a plea for a more intensive Americanism, Mr. Atwood said it might yet come to pass that the south would show the north "the way back to sanity and safety" and "how to better anew the foundations of the nation." He declared strange doctrines were abroad in the land, which originated in Russia and find eager students in this and other countries. The doctrines, he said, are of a school teaching that "we can have government without authority, production without supervision, a state without morality and manhood without honor."

"Against this moral plague America is the shield, if shield there be," he continued. "In America we must look to the most American part for leadership in the matter and that part of America is in the south, where the language of the fathers of the republic is still spoken in its purity, unburdened by the superfluities of northern Europe or the multiple vowels of the Mediterranean; where the thoughts of the fathers still live in the hearts of men and where their ideals still hold the uplifted eyes of the rising generation."

"Hall to the south, the stronghold of Americanism. Led by her, in every red flag of revolution we can see the stars of the Union and the snow white stripes that symbolize purity of purpose like that which moved the men in whose honor we are assembled here today."

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

"Well, there was no criminal negligence found here," said Judge J. Enright at the police court this morning, in dismissing for lack of prosecution the charge of manslaughter against Fred H. Gilman, held in connection with the death of Antoine St. George. An automobile operated by Gilman struck St. George on the night of April 23, on Merrimack street, causing injuries which later resulted in his death.

When Gilman was arrested, William J. Burbeck, owner of the motor truck which the defendant had been driving, furnished surety in the sum of $2000. There were a number of continuances to await the inquest findings. Yesterday this finding was submitted by Judge John J. Pickman, who failed to discover any criminal negligence on the part of Gilman or any other person.

"Why didn't you blow your horn?" queried the court, after perusing the report made by Judge Pickman. "I didn't think it was necessary," responded Gilman.

"Well, have to dismiss this case," concluded His Honor, and Gilman was freed.

FARE REDUCTION IN EFFECT THURSDAY

The fare reduction on local lines of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., scheduled to become effective Wednesday, will not go into effect until Thursday morning, owing to a break-down of one of the presses of the Boston printing concern which is printing the company's new tickets.

Manager Lees of the Lowell district of the company had been promised his supply of tickets for yesterday afternoon, but when he sent a man for them it was learned that there had been a delay in getting them out.

No Reason to Occupy Ruhr, Says Briand

PARIS, May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Briand, questioned by a group of deputies before the meeting of the chamber today, said there was no reason for the occupation of the Ruhr region, because the aspect of the Silesian question had been changed, and if the Ruhr were occupied without the support of the allies, it would be equivalent to abandonment of the treaty of Versailles.

Rev. L. S. Mudge Presbyterian Clerk

WINONA LAKE, Ind., May 24.—The Rev. Louis Seymour Mudge of Harrisburg, Pa., was elected stated clerk of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America by the general assembly today. He will take office April 1, 1922. There were three other candidates, but Mr. Mudge received 727 of the 882 votes cast.

Kramer Urges Passage of Deficiency Bill

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Prompt passage of the deficiency bill with the appropriation of $200,000 for prohibition enforcement for the remainder of this fiscal year, would be a great aid in reorganization of the field forces of the prohibition bureau, Commissioner Kramer said today. He added that if the funds could be made available this month, the re-employment of the 700 agents laid off last Friday, would be greatly facilitated.

Ship Owners Cannot Sign Agreement

WASHINGTON, May 24.—American ship owners might have signed an agreement with the marine workers before May 1, but they cannot see their way clear to enter into any agreement now, W. L. Marvin, secretary of the Ship Owners' association declared today before going into conference with Secretaries Davis and Hoover, and officials of the shipping board.

New R. R. Wage Decision June 1

CHICAGO, May 24.—The rates of pay and classifications established by the railroad labor board's wage award of July, 1920, will be used as the basis of reductions when the board hands down its new wage decision on June 1, it was learned today. The board has arrived at tentative percentages which will cut the present rates from 10 to 15 per cent, according to the class of employees affected.

NEW CRISIS OVER SILESIA

Fighting Between Poles and Germans May Force Allies to Change Policy

Many French Deputies Favor Immediate Occupation of Ruhr if Berlin Fails to Act

PARIS, May 24.—Fighting between Germans and Poles in Silesia has created a new crisis over the policy to be followed by the allied nations regarding that former province of Germany, and it had a distinct influence on debate in the French chamber of deputies when it convened today after its week-end recess.

Many deputies were prepared to demand immediate occupation of the Ruhr district of Germany should the Berlin government refuse to take steps to withdraw German troops from the plebiscite zone without delay. Today's session was attended by a large audience, men and women standing in line at the Quai d'Orsay entrance to the Palais Bourbon since midnight. They were willing to spend the whole night in the open in order that they might obtain seats when the doors were thrown open.

Details of the premier's policy were more or less of a mystery here, although there was much speculation by newspapers. None of them, however, was able to give the slightest inkling of his attitude.

BERLIN, May 24.—(By Associated Press)—Over crisscrossed telegraph and telephone wires came reports from Oppeln that the Germans and Poles are engaged in heavy artillery and machine-gun firing all along the Oder, especially in the vicinity of Krapitz. Both sides are entrenching and the people in general of the towns are in panic stricken.

While the general reports from Upper Silesia indicate a considerable reinforcement of both insurgent and German sides, a menacing food shortage in the rebellious area and an extension and intensifying of the conflicts, the German government in a note to the premier announced on May 19, made public yesterday, denies all responsibility for the disturbances and declines to comply with the French request to forward money to pay the miners, which was considered necessary to forestall possible chaotic conditions.

NELSON KNIGHTS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

BANGOR, Me., May 24.—Nelson Eugene Knights, aged 49, of Dexter, convicted of murder in the first degree in the killing of Alfred Corson in Dexter last January, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state prison at Thomaston.

Justice R. L. Smith of the superior court said that he was satisfied that the respondent had been given every right to which he was entitled, a fair trial and able defense, and that the only sentence which the law of Maine allows upon conviction for murder in the first degree must be imposed.

Knights appeared unmoved, as he has all through his trial. Replying to the usual questions, he said that he had been drinking at the time of the crime and didn't intend to hurt Corson or to rob him; that Corson was his wife's uncle and that they had been on good terms for 15 years.

He said that he had served a term of 15 months in state prison about 20 years ago, having been committed from Skowhegan, for larceny.

GERMANY'S WAR CRIMINALS ON TRIAL

PARIS, May 24.—Germany has begun compliance with another of the demands made by the allies in the London ultimatum of May 5—the trial of war criminals—according to a despatch from Leipzig yesterday. The message announced that the high court organized by Germany for this purpose has placed Herbert Heyne on trial. He is accused of ill-treatment of prisoners of war in the camp at Hern, Westphalia.

ARGUMENTS ON PONZI PETITION TOMORROW

BOSTON, May 24.—Arguments on the petition of Charles Ponzi for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his trial in the state courts, on charges of larceny from investors while he is a federal prisoner, were set for tomorrow by Federal Judge Morton, after a conference today. The court ordered Judge Franklin G. Essendon of the superior court, who has ordered Ponzi brought to bar for trial, and Sheriff Ernie P. Blake of Plymouth, against whom the action is directed, to file answers.

Ponzi is serving a federal sentence in the Plymouth jail for using the mails to defraud. His trial in the state courts had been set for today but Attorney General Allen indicated that it would be postponed pending decision on the application for the habeas corpus writ.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION OF NAVAL RECRUITS

Recruits for the navy, enlisting for the first time in that branch of the service, can only be sent from this city to the Boston headquarters for physical examination on Friday. "Our quota for this week remains unchanged," reads a letter from Lieut. Commander C. A. Lucas, of the Hancock station, Boston, which was received today. "While the weekly quota of first enlistments for this district is 18 men, including one hostilities, the quota for the week of May 24, 1921, is 18 men, including one hostilities, you are directed to send in recruits for first enlistment only on Friday."

This new ruling, it is explained at local navy headquarters, does not affect the re-enlistment of men already having had sea service. These may be accepted at any time and in any number.

DOUBLE ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE

Cross-warrants charging assault and battery were sworn out by Chester McPhail and Henry Sidelly, and the charges were given to Judge J. Enright in the police court this morning. McPhail charged Sidelly, at a recent court session, with assault and battery. The case was put over until today, and McPhail was charged with assault and battery on Herbert Sidelly, the younger brother of Henry.

According to the testimony of Herbert Sidelly, there was an altercation between himself and McPhail at the milk-dealer's establishment in Chelmsford where both are employed. Young Sidelly said that in the course of the conversation he inquired of McPhail as to "why you are so grouchy," whereupon he was "grabbed by the neck." He admitted that he started getting mad.

"How many times," questioned Judge Enright, The witness responded that he could not estimate their number. "They came so fast I couldn't count them," he declared.

McPhail's version of the fracas was somewhat different. He started that when young Sidelly asked him why he was so grouchy, he appended to his query a vile epithet. Also, alleged McPhail, the youth threatened to smite him with a milk-carrier designed to hold eight quarts of the fluid. Sidelly swung said carrier at him menacingly, he said, and that during the course of the hostilities he received a swat on the back of the neck with a quart bottle of milk. "He banged me one with it," he told the court.

The milk dealer who has been employing both the former witnesses testified that he has repeatedly warned young Sidelly that "if he didn't control his language he would get into trouble." Witness continued that he once discharged the Sidelly but that he had again come out of compassion, because he didn't have any place to sleep. He has had the custom of staying out late at night, or all night, and his mother has used language which was not all that it should be, declared this witness. An assertion by Sidelly's older brother that the young fellow's nose was bent severely by McPhail's "bottling" was met by the witness, who said that Herbert Sidelly's nose "is just the same as it was when he came to work for me a year ago."

Officer Saul of Chestnut-street described alleged statements of Henry Sidelly to the effect that he "got" McPhail. Cross-examined, he said that McPhail voted the same promise with reference to Sidelly. Both parties said that they had each other "some more" testified the officer.

McPhail told of Henry Sidelly assaulting him for his chastisement of his younger brother, Herbert Sidelly, after the latter had addressed him in a profane and opprobrious manner. He was punched, and stones were thrown after him as he fled for protection, he asserted.

Judge Enright found both men guilty, but placed McPhail's case on file, admonishing the older Sidelly as to his attitude when attempts had been made to correct his "young brother" for foul and abusive language. Sidelly was fined $10. Herbert, the younger brother, also received a brief but vigorous scolding from the court, and was advised to mind his tongue. "You seem to have been the cause of all the trouble," remarked the judge, who also warned both participants in the fray that the matter must go no further.

How Outmet Lost

Charles Hodgson of Balldon, Outmet's conqueror, is one of Yorkshire's best golfers. Both players opened well, halving the first hole in nines. Hodgson was too careless with his putter at the second and lost in five to four.

The third was halved in fours. Then Hodgson, following a splendid chip shot, squared the match with three on the fourth. Outmet took three putts at the fifth. Hodgson was short from the tee, but had a splendid run up and snatched a half with a four.

At the sixth, Outmet missed a yard putt for a half, and Hodgson won in four to five, taking the lead for the first time. The Yorkshire man became two up at the seventh when he got a perfect two, while Outmet was in the long grass and then short of the green. At the eighth, both were four yards from a hole with their bird shots. Outmet had the shorter putt, but missed, whereas Hodgson sank his and became three up.

Outmet, however, proceeded to win the ninth, the Englishman getting into a bad bed and giving up the hole. Hodgson then made the turn two up. Outmet's defeat was in a great finish, in which both men kept their nerve to the end. The Yorkshire champion putted brilliantly and was one up with two to go. The 17th was halved in good fours.

At the 15th Hodgson played his second shot five yards from the pin, while Outmet's was 15 yards away. Both just missed their putts and, agreeing on a half in fours, Hodgson won by one up.

The defeat of Outmet at the hands of Hodgson constituted what veteran observers regarded as one of the biggest surprises in the history of the championship. The Yorkshire man won his victory largely through his superiority in putting.

Lowell Man Was Missing
Since February—Funeral
This Afternoon

The body of the man taken from the Merrimack river yesterday was this morning identified at the morgue of Undertakers James P. O'Donnell & Sons in Market street as that of Andrew J. Thompson of 28 B street, who had been missing since last February. The identification was established by the wife of deceased through the clothing and articles found in the pockets. Mr. Thompson was a shoe worker by trade, but had not worked for a long time, his last employment having been at the L. H. Spaulding shoe company. He disappeared from his home last February and at that time the police were notified, but their efforts to locate him proved fruitless. Deceased was 33 years of age and is survived by his wife, two sons, three daughters and four grandchildren. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons, and burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, where services were conducted at the grave by Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street P. M. church.

Hub Men Beaten

Gullford and Tolley began their match, and a large crowd followed the players as they went from hole to hole. The first hole was halved, each player having a four. Tolley won the second in four, Gullford being too strong with his approach, and missing a two-yard putt for a half.

Gullford drove two shots out of bounds at the third, and his third shot from the tee was in a ditch. He was also short on the green. Tolley winning the hole easily on his fourth shot.

Gullford holed a four-yard putt for a win on the fourth hole, leaving Tolley one up at that point.

In playing the fifth hole, Gullford pulled his tee shot into the water, but made a good recovery, while Tolley played an indifferent second shot and flubbed his third badly. As a result, Gullford squared the match by winning the hole 5 to 6.

Tolley was short with his approach to the sixth, while Gullford was nicely on the green in two. He won the hole 4 to 5, and became 1 up. Gullford was a long way to the right of the green at the short seventh with his tee shot, and Tolley was on the green from the tee. Gullford played a weak second and was still short of the green, and Tolley, playing the hole perfectly, won it 5 to 4, and squared the match.

At the eighth Tolley ran down a long putt to win the hole with a four against a five for Gullford, who putted weakly, requiring three strokes on the green. This made Tolley one up, but at the ninth the American ran down a seven yard putt for a three, and the players made the turn at square.

After Run-Runners

case is predicted on or before Friday. One of the vice squad officers who participated in the raid which terminated in the escape of the liquor smugglers said this morning that two arrests, as had been formerly reported, were not contemplated, and that one individual would probably "stand for the whole of it."

"We went around corners on two wheels," was the way this officer pictured the midnight pursuit, and he added that "at times, the police car was hitting it up at a speed of 64 miles an hour. The entire group of the police limousine, a Buick touring car, which kept hot on the tail of the big Packard machine from Chestnut street to Willow street, where the "scout" was lost. It was a "scout" literally as well as figuratively, as several bottles of Canadian club whiskey were hurled from the fugitive automobile in a vain effort to puncture the tires of the machine which relentlessly followed, and from which Officers Conroy, Moore, Kivian, O'Sullivan, Winn and Patrick B. Clark discharged the contents of their revolvers at the fleeing run-runners.

Salmon today will be paid out of the general treasury.

Meeting in Detail
The meeting was called at 10:10 with Mayor Thompson and Commissioners Marchand and Donnelly present.

Dennis J. Murphy, appearing for William H. Bamford, a member of the fire department who has asked to be pensioned, said that the city should either grant Mr. Bamford a pension or keep him on the payroll as a fireman. He has not received any wages for several months following an injury sustained in the performance of duty, Mr. Murphy said, and he has a family to support.

Inasmuch as there were but three members of the council present, it was voted to postpone action for another week.

A communication from the local union of the International Brotherhood of Telephone Workers, protesting against contract labor for city work, was read and filed.

Lull & Hartford were granted a license to sell and store firearms. The invitation of the local post of the American Legion to members of the council, asking them to review the legionaries in the Memorial day parade, was accepted.

Commissioner Murphy proposed a vote authorizing the purchasing agent to enter into a contract with the Standard Oil Co. for 50,000 gallons of asphalt binder to be charged to the macadam appropriation and with the Warren Foundry & Machine Co. for cast iron pipe for the water department.

An order was adopted to pay the court award of $13,375 granted owners of property in Merrimack and Market streets, seized by the city several years ago in extending Dunmer street. Inasmuch as there are not sufficient funds available in the claims appropriation, the money will be paid from the general treasury fund.

VICTIMS OF AUTO CRASH

Commissioner Salmon is Out of Danger—Pelletier Undergoes Operation

Continued improvement in the condition of Commissioner John P. Salmon was reported at St. John's hospital this afternoon. The commissioner is rallying most encouragingly from the injuries sustained in the recent automobile accident in Wumest.

Arthur Pelletier, another of the victims of the accident, underwent an operation for his eye at the hospital this morning and at noon it was reported that the operation had been successful and that the young man will not lose the eye, as it had been rumored. Mr. Pelletier is reported as resting comfortably.

Mrs. Wilfred C. Cognac, wife of the young man who lost his life in the crash, and who is suffering from a fractured leg and a fracture of the collar bone, is also reported as doing well, while Miss Corinne Perreault, who was badly shaken up but not badly injured, will be able to leave the hospital within a day or two.

Commerce Chamber's Initiative Petition
The gathering of names on the initiative petition relative to street work by contract is progressing rapidly and the promoters of the movement seem very well pleased with the success already achieved. Another note of enthusiasm was injected in the work this morning, when it was announced that the women have become deeply interested in the matter.

Twenty-five prominent women of this city have been invited to attend luncheon in the quarters of the chamber of commerce tomorrow noon at which time plans will be discussed for the circulating of copies of the petitions. The movement has now become a city-wide affair and it is expected that within a very short time more than the necessary number of names, 2500, will be secured, for already nearly 250 copies of the petition have been circulated throughout the city, and ten signatures to each paper would be more than enough to carry the initiative over the top.

The membership committee of the chamber of commerce will hold its regular meeting at the Colonial restaurant in Prescott street tomorrow noon. Luncheon will be served and the business session will be presided over by Chairman C. D. A. Grasse.

The next meeting of the board of directors will be held in the quarters of the organization Wednesday noon, June 1. The business session will be preceded by luncheon.

United States Navy Recruiting Signs Ordered Removed From Telephone Poles

If signs designated to stimulate recruiting in the United States navy are not removed from poles of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company here, within the next week, B. J. Mahoney, district plant chief of the concern, will remove them and send a "proper bill" to the government. This announcement was made in a letter received by Chief Gunner's Mate J. McDowell, of the navy recruiting staff in Lowell.

Mr. Mahoney, in a letter dated May 23, and addressed to Chief McDowell at the temporary navy headquarters at the main postoffice, writes: "Dear Sir—There has recently been posted on our poles without permission large paper signs advertising men wanted for the United States navy. These signs were placed on our poles along the Lawrence boulevard."

"A short time ago I spoke either to you or to one of your men at the transfer station in Lowell asking you where you obtained permission to place these signs knowing no permission of this kind was granted or asked for by you. I asked you verbally if you would remove the signs and you stated that you would."

"As you know such signs as these are unsightly and in a short time the paper is torn off and it is necessary for us to shave the pole and repaint it. Will you kindly have these signs removed within the next week, and if they are not removed within that time, I will remove them in the manner mentioned above and send a proper bill to the government."

"Suppose you know that it is against a local ordinance to place these signs on our poles and also that there is a stencil on each pole saying 'Post No Bills.'"

"Awaiting your further definite action, I am
Yours respectfully,
B. J. MAHONEY
"District Plant Chief."
Chief McDowell made public this communication today, and stated that the local navy recruiting force would remove the signs "in due time." He added that approximately 500 signs have been posted at various points in this locality, and that he estimates that not more than ten of these were affixed to poles belonging to the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph company. No other complaints from any source have been received relative to the posting of the recruiting signs, he declares.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

Hoover Makes Known His Program for Relieving House Shortage

By H. B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, May 24.—Herbert Hoover sees many ways in which government assistance and co-operation can stimulate a renewal of building activity to relieve the housing shortage and high rents situation.

The appalling anomaly of millions of idle men, co-existent with suffering as never before from under-housing, is obvious to everybody," says the secretary of commerce.

"Among the obstacles in the path of resumption of home building on the large scale needed are high prices of building materials, transportation and labor; the reduced income in many occupations, the consequent restriction of credit; the restrictions on effort through the risk of organized labor strikes, general taxation and the wastes in the industry.

"The services the government can properly perform must be entirely indirect, for the government cannot enter into the fixing of prices or the determination of wages.

"The particular direction in which it is the purpose of the department of commerce to exert itself is in the reduction of waste and the increase of stability in operations in the industry.

"The intermittent operation of the building industry is where the greatest waste finds its roots and is the largest element of high costs.

"I believe the average employment of labor in the building industries is not over 65 per cent. of the possible time. One reason for the constant drive for higher hourly wages is to maintain an adequate annual income and to offset the loss due to intermittent occupation. Labor itself, however, has contributed to intermittency by its rules.

"Our equipment especially for production of building materials is probably 30 per cent. higher than is necessary, if we could secure nearly an average demand. For instance, our lumber mills have a capacity of 50,000,000,000 to 60,000,000,000 board feet. Yet the annual production is but from 32,000,000,000 to 40,000,000,000 board feet.

"The annual capacity of our cement mills is above 130,000,000 barrels, but the annual production is only 70,000,000 to 100,000,000 barrels.

"The annual capacity of our brick plants is about 3,000,000,000 bricks, but the annual production only from 2,500,000,000 to 2,000,000,000.

"There are periods when the produc-

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the face and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. The blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the face without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dirt and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. This calomel powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

THIS? JUST "SHED" FOR NEW DIRIGIBLE

This young steel worker contemplates the scenery from a beam 207 feet above ground. It's atop the huge hangar at Lakehurst, N. tion of building material is actually suspended. "The intermitteces fall into three general classes: First, seasonal and weather interruptions; second, strikes and jurisdictional quarrels; third, inability of transportation to meet the peak load.

"The seasonal and weather problems are to a great degree insurmountable. But there could be local community action in establishing a definite repair season out of conflict with the season of new building.

"The lost time for general strikes could be reduced by local adjustment boards. The recent declaration by organized labor of a plan to establish adjustment boards in various communities is a step in the right direction.

"Jurisdictional strikes have no justification, yet I am informed that of the time lost due to all strikes in the building trades over one-half arises from this quarter. The abolition of such strikes lies entirely within the powers of organized labor. Settlement boards of their own would be a contribution to labor's own income and employment.

"Labor could also greatly assist in lifting us from this blockade on building if it would set its face against any restraint on effort that still survives in some trades.

"We also need standardization and simplification in many materials. From 10 to 20 per cent. of the cost of building lies in the lack of standards in a broad sense.

"We have, for instance, some 250-odd building codes to which a large part of the country must conform. They vary flagrantly; they hold back progress in methods of construction and make impossible standardization."

MADAME CURIE WINS THROUGH CURIOSITY

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, May 21.—"My mother said to me, 'Do American children really trade first teeth for deal cases?'"

"Don't tell!" I cried, "what is it?"

Irene Curie threw back her head and laughed.

"And what do you suppose she answered?" I've been reading "Tom Sawyer" and I want to know if the typical American child is wicked." Mother is so curious.

There Irene Curie struck the key-

The other daughter, Eve, visiting America with them, is quite different. "Eve is giddy," says the simple, somber Irene. "But of that mother and I are glad. Eve is unthinking and unscientific. It is to protect people like Eve that people like mother and I must work in laboratories.

"But Eve is the light of our lives. Why should anyone want her to make tests all day instead of dancing? You

ARRESTS OF WOMEN

Lowell Holds Good Record, Says Secretary of Prison Association

The following communication is received from Mr. Warren P. Spalding, field secretary of the Massachusetts Prison association, showing that Lowell holds one of the best records in the state so far as the arrests of women are concerned:

Editor Lowell Sun:
A recent issue of the Boston Herald had an interesting editorial on "Crime Among Women," showing a great reduction in arrests.

The number arrested in 1891 was 3818, about one in a hundred of the females in that state over seventeen years of age. It increased, with fluctuations, until 1917, when it reached nearly 15,000. Since then the number has been declining, and last year only 7,018 were arrested. What is the arrest of women have fallen off twenty per cent. in the past thirty years though the population has increased seventy-two per cent.

I think your readers may be interested in some details about crime among Lowell women. In 1890 Lowell had the worst record of any city in the state (excepting Boston, of course). There were 611 arrests for drunkenness and 94 for other offenses, a total of 705, in a population of 77,096. (The figures are for years ending September 30th). Since that time there has been a steady decrease in every five-year period in arrests for drunkenness, and, after 1895, for other offenses—an exceptional thing, for usually, no matter what the crime movement may be, there are wide fluctuations.

Five years later, with a population of 81,207, arrests for drunkenness had fallen to 553. Arrests for other offenses increased heavily in these five years, from 94 to 150. In 1900, with a population of 91,069, the arrests for drunkenness fell to 505, and for other offenses to 128—a total of 633, against 703 five years before. In 1905, the population having remained substantially stationary, there was a small decrease in arrests for drunkenness, to 471, but a large one in arrests for other offenses, from 128 to 51.

In 1910, the arrests for drunkenness were but 350; and in 1915, but 306. For other offenses the numbers were 53 and 55, respectively. The population of the city increased in the decade 1905-1915 from 94,559 to 107,978.

This downward movement was greatly accelerated when federal prohibition came, and last year the arrests reached their lowest point—221 for drunkenness and 75 for other offenses. From 611 arrests of women for drunkenness in 1890 to 94 in 1920; and for all other offenses from the high point (1890) in 1895 to 75 last year is surprising progress in the right direction.

Instead of having the worst record of any city in the state, Lowell now holds one of the very best in the group of six cities, excluding Boston, having a population of more than 100,000.

It may be interesting to note that though arrests of men have not shown as much improvement, there were but 2962 in 1920, compared with 4927 in 1915. Arrests of men for drunkenness in the last five years have decreased from 2,924 to 1,317, but those for other offenses increased slightly from 1593 to 1615.

A study of the cause (or causes) of the great decrease of drunkenness among Lowell women would be an interesting one for some of your social workers. One thing is fairly evident—the "home-brew," large or small, is not producing as many drunken women for police attentions as the old system did, and there are fewer arrests of women for other offenses than in former years. Altogether, Lowell holds a high place among the large cities, in this important social matter. Perhaps, if the social workers would undertake it, there could be a still further improvement.

What would happen if the other 40,000 or more good women should set the names of the 163 who were arrested last year, find out who they were, what they were arrested for, why they broke the laws, and really try to abolish crime among Lowell women? The number is so small, that to make the experiment would not involve much effort.

PRES. HARDING LEAVES
N. Y. AFTER BUSY DAY

NEW YORK, May 24.—President Harding today was on his way to Washington on board the presidential Mayflower which left her pier here late last night. Early this morning a message was received saying the craft had passed Sandy Hook on a moonlit sea that was made moderately rough by a fresh northeast wind.

The yacht was accompanied by the destroyer Tullit and the New York police boat John F. Hyman escorted her as far as the Narrows. The president and members of his party retired soon after going on board.

The departure followed a day filled with activity. From early in the morning, when he attended a ceremony in Hoboken to honor more than 500 fallen war heroes whose bodies were there, until he had concluded an address at the 125th anniversary of the New York Commercial last night, the president was busy.

But one hitch occurred in the program for the day. This was caused by a fire which practically destroyed the third oldest fighting craft in the navy. The Granite State, now used as a naval militia training ship, which was lying near the presidential yacht, caught fire when oil on the water about her was fired by a spark from a motorboat. Flames swept about her and fire fighting apparatus had to be placed on the pier at which the Mayflower was lying. The yacht was removed to the foot of 56th street, the pier of the Columbia Yacht club, where the presidential party boarded her.

AUTO THIEVES PULL
ANOTHER STUNT

Another auto-thief pulled off another coup yesterday evening when they visited their popular rendezvous, Bridge street, took the automobile of James Bradley for a joy-ride, and later abandoned it back of Lowell Textile school minus a new tire. During the course of the evening Bradley, who is a resident of Whipple street, reported that his Ford touring car, 1915 model, Massachusetts registration number 157,536, had been stolen between 8 and 10 o'clock p. m. One headlight, he stated, had a green lens, and the other a white one. The car had recently been painted.

Later that night the machine was found behind the Lowell Textile school, with a new tire stripped from one of the rear wheels. No arrests were made, and the owner was notified of the recovery of his property.

Ultra Violet Rays
Being Used Here

length of exposure is increased until now most of the patients at the hospital can stand 20 minutes of it. Reporter Gets "Local Color"

A representative of The Sun who visited the hospital yesterday afternoon to inspect the lamp and see it in operation was invited by Dr. Forster H. Smith, hospital superintendent, to take the treatment himself in order to get a little "local color." He got it all right and today is displaying a pinkish tint that has all the earmarks of a well-spent week-end at the seashore.

The first step in taking the treatment is to expose whatever part of the body it is desired to have treated. The Sun reporter at the suggestion of Dr. Smith stripped to his waist and the rays shone down on his chest, neck and face. In order to protect his eyes from the strong rays of the lamp, he was given a pair of goggles similar to those worn by drivers or engineers, and today there is a streak of white around his eyes, indicating that the light did not penetrate through the leather enclosure of the goggles.

Found No Ill Effects
The Sun man was given an extra strong exposure for his first treatment. Instead of the traditional three minutes, he remained under the lamp for five. There was no sensation of burning, in fact, no ill effects at all. The violet rays do their work quietly but effectively. Just before the five minutes expired, Dr. Smith turned the lamp on double strength and then the heat began to be felt. But at no time was it uncomfortable.

The lamp can be moved about from one building to another and as much as all the nurses have been trained to operate it, there is never any delay in giving the patients' prompt treatment. Dr. Smith says that the psychological effect on the patients has been wonderful—that they look forward to their treatment days most enthusiastically and that their spirits are noticeably improved after a treatment.

The lamp will be kept at the hospital until the three-months trial period has expired. If at the end of that time it has proved a success, Dr. Smith will recommend that it be bought by the city.

The lamp is a comparatively recent invention and is being tried out now at the Tewksbury Infirmary, the tubercular hospital in Westfield and at other institutions of the kind.

LOWELL WOMEN WILL DECIDE

If the initiative is to be invoked as proposed on two very important questions, the women of Lowell will have an equal voice with the men in the decision. They have an equal right even in signing the petitions in circulation, provided they are registered.

This will be the first instance in which women will have an opportunity to assist in deciding two great questions of policy for the city of Lowell—one as to whether back paying shall be done by contract, provided Lowell labor be employed; and the other as to whether the city is ready to establish a municipal gas plant or to take over the works of the Lowell Gas Light company for a reasonable price and run the system for the benefit of the city.

Our women voters will understand that the initiative is a provision of the city charter under which the people can undertake to compel the municipal council to carry out the popular will. First, the petition must bear the signatures of at least 20 per cent. of the aggregate number of votes cast for mayor at the last annual city election, requesting the city council to pass the measure therein set forth.

After the petition, duly signed, is submitted, the municipal council must do one of two things. First, within twenty days, either pass the measure as described in the petition, or forthwith after the expiration of twenty days, call a special election at which the matter may be decided by a popular vote. But if the annual city election should be held within ninety days thereafter, the question would be deferred until that date.

In the present instance, the city election is sufficiently far ahead to allow the calling of a special election; and that, it seems, will be the course if the petitions be submitted as expected. One special election would serve for both petitions. But it is hoped that for the good of the city both controversies will be settled and thus save the city the expense of holding a special election.

We are having a special election in October to pass upon the new charter and that should be enough for one year. If, however, one initiative petition be filed with the city clerk bearing the required number of signatures, and if the municipal council fails to grant the petition within the time specified, then under the law the city has no other alternative.

As to the merits of the questions involved, the women voters may be divided as are the men. Very few will deny that no obstacle should be thrown in the way of having smooth-paying laid as economically as possible. We want the best paving possible for a price as low as that for which it is done in any New England city. To get that, it may be necessary to have the work done by contract. That the city council shall have it so done is the purpose of the charter of commerce petition. Should that be so ordained by the municipal council, the mandate would carry only till the incoming of the new government next year, assuming, of course, that next year's government would be organized under the new charter.

But if the people at a special election vote in favor of having street paving done by contract, then that vote would be binding upon the new city council and would oblige the board of public service to adopt that plan and continue it until the people on a referendum should vote to change.

In view of the towering tax rate, which, we surmise, will this year be $30 or over, the taxpayers will not be in a mood to favor any undertaking that would not only increase the rate, but make a higher rate a certainty for a number of years. That consideration will operate strongly against the proposition to establish a municipal gas plant or to acquire that of the Lowell Gas Light company.

Even if the people were financially able to handle such a proposition, the expediency of such a step would be exceedingly doubtful. Cities that have tried running municipal gas works have not had an experience that would encourage others to try it in the business. Wakefield tried a municipal gas plant but was very glad to get rid of it after a period of three years.

These are the considerations underlying the initiative controversies, and on which both should be decided without resorting to special election.

The municipal council should settle one by granting the petition. The Gas company should settle the other by arbitration before the initiative proceedings be allowed to go too far. If the city council were ordered to embark in the production of municipal gas—the public mind is entirely possible, the situation would be positively alarming. We are not concerned over what would befall the Gas Light company, which is able to take care of itself; but we are concerned over what would happen to Lowell as a city if compelled to purchase the Lowell Gas Light plant and assume control of the works. In this matter, it seems to us that we are treading dangerous ground in taking any chance of having to take over the gas works.

The initiative when conservatively used, may serve a good purpose; but if used unwisely, it may involve the city in most serious and expensive complications. It remains for our citizens, both male and female to look into these questions very carefully and if called upon to act, to serve the city's interests in keeping down expenses and saving the taxpayers from increased burdens at a time when the tax levy is already oppressive.

In promoting this conservative and economic policy, the women of Lowell will doubtless do their full share.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

At a time when far too many seem to be playing a waiting game, it would be well for as many as possible to begin to remove the obstacles to active business. The labor unions that are trying to hold on to wartime wage scales are placing obstacles in the way of a general resumption of business. This is but one of many obstacles. The employer who wants to break up all the unions is a still greater obstacle in the path of progress. There are many others which unfortunately are beyond the power of any individual outside congress or the White House to influence in the slightest degree. They depend upon the action of congress and the president on the tariff, on taxation, on the declaration of peace, on the extension of our foreign trade, on the solution of the transportation problem at reasonable rates. If a few of these problems were solved, the industries of the country would show greater activity and everybody would be happier.

It seems that nobody can complain that the people are not now ready to buy if they get fair value for their money. The strike against buying is over; but still there is something the matter. It seems to be a strike against the tax gatherer, against high wages, against unions, against existing conditions generally. Possibly a real republican tariff will help and the republicans directed by Senator Penrose are preparing that; but then we are reminded that we have a merchant marine which must be kept busy; and if we raise a high tariff will our vessels wait behind it.

Thus the discussion goes, and there is little prospect of a change until congress lets go its emergency tariff, tops off the heavy war taxes and until Herbert Hoover manages to establish trade relations with foreign countries that can pay for goods if there are any such. The devaluation of the rate of foreign exchange is another obstacle which the Silesian problem has aggravated. Things were assuming an encouraging aspect in the matter of continental exchange until a serious aspect of a break between England and France loomed on the horizon. There seems to be little doubt that with this question settled, Europe will soon again become a large purchaser of our raw materials. It is probable also, that Germany will come into the market as a liberal purchaser of cotton, copper and other raw materials. The present uncertainties, however, leave everything and everybody waiting.

Here in Lowell business is better than in many other cities. The merchants are selling in many instances at less than cost in order to keep business moving. Their policy is small profits and quick returns, as by this means alone can they dispose of their stock even though it was purchased at higher figures than those for which it is now offered to the public. There is a lull in the building trade that should be broken so that owners contemplating building operations may be induced to go ahead without further waiting for price reductions.

ENFORCING THE SPEED LAWS
In the city of Worcester recently, a professor of Clark university was brought into court for overspeeding through a thickly settled district and for passing an intersecting street at the rate of 30 miles an hour. He was discharged with apology from the court. The same officer had another tourist in court on a charge precisely similar. The defendant, who in this case was an ordinary individual, was fined $10.

The judge, who was responsible for such a travesty on justice, should be ashamed of himself. That is not the way to enforce the speed laws, and the case with which some people escape even when they kill pedestrians through gross carelessness and by driving at a rate of speed clearly in violation of the law, is not calculated to impress others with respect for statutes limiting the rate of speed and requiring the exercise of care at all times.

THE DRIVES

It must be admitted that never before have we seen in this country such an outpouring of charity as has been witnessed in the various drives that came quick and fast for churches, colleges, hospitals, for the Near East, the Far East, China, Ireland, and the various others. Yet still they come! Some had hoped the Salvation Army drive would be the last, yet others are sure to follow.

Lowell, indeed, is walking on the ragged edge with the possibility of one more alderman becoming incapacitated for service and then no municipal government. But, some people are bound to say we shouldn't be much worse off than we usually have been under the present charter.

If the accounts of the latest rum-running battle are correct it would seem doubtful whether the Lowell cops could qualify as marksmen even with a bare door for a target.

It would be interesting to know how many times it is to be announced that the work of "constructing" the Central bridge has been started before it starts.

Reckless driver—60 miles an hour—crash!—hospital—death—exonerated on the charge of manslaughter. Something like this seems to be becoming a normal sequence of events.

There seems to be one difficulty in the way of limitation of armaments—each leading nation wants the largest possible navy before the limiting begins.

Not quite monarch of all it surveys is the Silver and his brothers when $10,000 in prizes have been offered on the New England light harness racing circuit for this summer.

Getting good men into office and a campaign "through a needle's eye" seem to be about equally difficult of achievement in some cities.

One wonders whether it is an instance of "none so blind as those who will not see" in the case of the cops and the near-beer booze joints.

Soon we must face the difficult problem of trying to decide which we admire the more—the June bride or the sweet girl graduate.

Put not your trust in "slush funds," oh ye opponents of the proposed new charter.

The initiative brings us a little nearer to the ways of the old New England town meeting.

Maniacs for the speed maniac.

SEEN AND HEARD

Do you remember when everybody condemned dandelions as a pest?

Many a farmer this year has been hit an awful blow by the staff of life, wheat.

A boy has a tough life. Just as the baseball season gets well under way, he has to begin cramming for school exams.

Prohibition closes cabarets and roof garden shows on Broadway. The Great White Way becomes The Great Black Way.

A technically annals 100 marriages performed last year by a justice of the peace at Elvira, O. Wonder how many will dodge a second wedding and welcome the situation as the one way out.

For supreme optimism, you can't beat that Akron tire worker who is going to ask the courts to sustain his claim to real estate in the heart of New York by inheritance from his great-grandfather.

Lowell's Trees

Did you ever notice that Lowell is a city of trees? You would if you viewed it from the top floor of The Sun building. Beginning a couple of blocks from Merrimack square, there is presented a vista in which green predominates. It is as though a huge wreath of verdure had been laid upon the city by some gigantic hand. Even the gaunt hills have their touch of green nearby. A tall tree relieves the wall of the high school building, and its topmost limb nearly climbs as high as the flag. The entire lower part of the city is cut off from view by the mass of greenery which springs from St. Anne's churchyard. And around all, the lines of hills, becoming ever of a lighter blue, until they almost blend with the sky. Gas tanks, chimneys, mills to the contrary notwithstanding, Lowell is a thing of beauty from the top of The Sun building. The Merrimack river, and the thick-grown heights of Fort Hill, must not be forgotten. Well did Joyce Kilmer sing:

"I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree."

"Absolutely"—Not

Einstein, says Dr. William E. Barton, has been among us, and has left the impression of a kindly personality and a strong mind. It may be true that only 13 persons in the world understand the theory to full; it may even be that he might say that light is alleged to have said, "Only one man understands me, and he does not." But the fundamental theories of Einstein are not very difficult to understand.

First, all motion is relative. Secondly, the velocity of light is independent of the velocity of its source. The first we can believe as soon as we understand what is meant by it. The second bewilders us, but when we know what Einstein is talking about, we have no desire to contradict him. But when we come to the application of these principles, we find ourselves in deep water. We have ourselves very much without much thought to principles which will keep us thinking for a long time. Before we are through, we are wondering whether things do not move, and whether anything is as we thought it was.

One thing we may as well learn which is that there are not so many absolutes as some people suppose for the word "absolutely." That was absolutely the worst dinner any man ever ate. "That road was absolutely the worst any man ever tried to drive." A Ford car is absolutely the nicest thing I have ever seen. "Absolutely" is a word to be used only three or four times in a life time. Herbert Spencer asked whether the captain of a vessel, walking westward on the deck of his ship sailing east, and walking just as fast as the ship is sailing, could say four miles an hour. He is really moving. He is moving with the earth on its axis at the rate of a thousand miles an hour; he is moving around the sun at the rate of 70,000 miles an hour; and no one knows how much faster he is moving in the solar system. And he is moving with stars currents and tidal movements of the ocean. We know of few things that are stationary, and we have frequent use for the word "absolutely."

Prelude

Words, words,
Ye are like birds;
Would I might fold you
In my hands and hold you
Till you were warm and your feather
A-flutter.
Till, in your throats,
Tremulous notes
Foretold the songs ye would utter.

Words, words

Ye are all birds;
Would ye might linger
Here on my finger
Till I kissed each, and then sent you
A winging
Will, perfect flight,
Through mist and light,
Singing, singing and singing!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Lily Meagher, who sang Sunday afternoon in the Boston Opera House with John McCormack, was applauded by many Lowell people who visited the neighboring city to attend the concert held for the benefit of the Irish relief fund. Miss Meagher has sung in this city on two occasions, and made many friends and admirers. Among her selections Sunday were "Dance, Dance," "Kitty of Coleraine" and other famous ballads of Erin. She was charmingly gowned in a frock of pale blue silk, with hat to match. She sang two groups of songs, one of them all Irish melodies. She was the guest of Miss Thomas J. Wright of the Lowell police court, at the latter's Fletcher street home until this morning. Today she left for New York, where she will rejoin Mr. McCormack for a continuance of their eastern tour. Mr. McCormack left for the metropolis Sunday afternoon immediately after the concert. He will sing with Miss Meagher in New York and Chicago.

You've seen Fiji Islanders in the movies. It develops that these superb, brunet gentlemen, who they aren't posing with their spears and straw skirts before movie cameras, work in the gas and electric companies. Here's what they demand: "Four dollars per day of six hours. Five days per week, with Saturday and Sunday as clear holidays. Half pay in case of sickness. Employers to provide each native worker free with two room cottage, table, two chairs, bed, mattress, screen, bathroom and lavatory free. Medical attendance, five dollars per day for a period. And one horse, one bull and four cows to be provided free. The employers are staggered at the demands," says a news report. Many an American employer will squirm in his swivel chair and mean soft sympathy for the Fiji Islands employer, who has a head-hunter and a chief in front door, a bone hunter in the back door, a clock is strung 12 on the romantic day of the peart hunter and the copra gatherer, who leg-ironed his tropical slaves and flayed them with the dried rasp-like skin of a shark fish. It doesn't read that way in the story books or the movies, but the far corners of the earth are fast adopting the stretched mode of life practiced in Lowell.

Sunday brought many boys to the river and the old swimming holes. This is the inevitable result when a warm spell comes before the bath-house opens. The young lads, even before they learn to swim take chances of getting drowned by following those who can swim into the water. As a result, many of them are in danger. They had better wait until the bath-house opens than take dangerous chances in rivers, ponds or canals.

The parks were well patronized on Sunday. The zoo proved a great attraction to Fort Hill park and the children enjoyed seeing the young bear playing in its little enclosure. They would like to get closer to it, even to fondle it as they would a pet dog, but that cannot be allowed. I do not believe that any of the children wanted to be unkind to any of the animals. They admire them all and they would be very grateful to Supt. Kernan if he would allow them to get an occasional ride in the little pony. There is no arrangement as yet to afford the children this pleasure, although if pony is willing, something in this line might be done on special occasions.

Wellesley to Honor Mme. Curie

WELLESLEY, May 24.—The honorary degree of Doctor of Science will be conferred upon Mme. Curie by Wellesley college at the commencement, it was announced today. It will be the first honorary degree Wellesley has conferred. The invitation to Mme. Curie to be present at the commencement exercises and to receive the degree was voted by the board of trustees in view of her pre-eminent and unique achievement as a scientist, it was explained.

Professor Budlong Puts Tanlac to Test

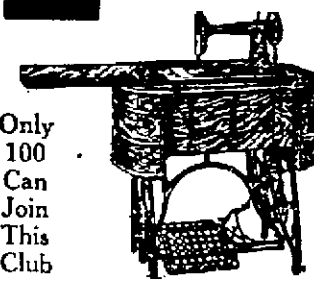

PROF. C. J. BUDLONG, Manchester, N. H.

"It's an actual fact, I'm in good health for the first time in 30 years and I owe my present splendid condition to Tanlac and nothing else." was the emphatic statement of Prof. C. J. Budlong, well known and highly respected citizen of Manchester, N. H., residing at 42 School street. "Practically all my life I had had rheumatism, and when I was young I mean every word of it. It was all over my body and especially had my feet and legs and there were times when I couldn't get from my bed to my chair without help. And from the time I was a boy I couldn't sit down and eat a good meal without being in terrible pain around my heart and frequent attacks of palpitation and dizziness. "I had a stubborn case of constipation, was troubled awfully with blind headache and hardly knew what sleep was. My suffering had almost made a complete nervous wreck of me and I was so weak I wasn't worth a nickel as far as work was concerned. I thought my troubles had a life-long grip on me and was about as discouraged as a man ever gets. "Well, before I had finished my first bottle of Tanlac I realized it was different from anything I ever tried. It suited me exactly. And now for almost the first time since I can remember I can eat anything I want and digest it. I haven't an ache or a pain and have gained 15 pounds in weight. I just feel good all over and am full of life and energy these days. Everywhere I go I talk Tanlac. It hasn't an equal." Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; Suow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

BOSS AND IDOL OF GERMANY

This remarkable snapshot just received from Germany, shows the "boss of Germany," Hugo Stinnes, and Frau Stinnes chatting in the street with General von Hindenburg, former commander-in-chief of the German armies and still the idol of the German people. Stinnes is reputed to be the richest man in the world. He owns scores of mines, factories and newspapers in Germany. This is the first picture of his wife to reach America.

Ladies' Eyelashes May Now Be Purchased

NEW YORK, May 24.—Ladies' eyelashes have become salable articles. The dressing table in milady's boudoir may now be adorned, in addition to numerous other things were man is supposed to suppose are natural with artificial lashes that paste on right over the regular ones. This innovation in feminine attractiveness was on display here today to the American Ladies' Hair Dressing association exhibition. Other nature savers included a half bobbed wig to cover old fashioned long hair, thus relieving the necessity of cutting it. A parable in moving picture form was shown, demonstrating how a wife who had lost her husband's affection regained it by rejuvenating her rose petal cheeks.

Rioters Flogged By Alexandria Police

CAIRO, Egypt, May 24.—Several men of those arrested for Sunday's rioting which resulted in the death of upwards of 30 persons, have been flogged at police headquarters in Alexandria. Warnings have been issued that the peaceable inhabitants of the city must in future go to their homes at the first sign of a demonstration. They are told that unless they heed this warning they must take the consequences, as the police intend to take "very energetic measures" against people who engage in disorders.

Fire In Tufts College Laboratory

MEDFORD, May 24.—Tufts college chemical laboratory was the scene early today of a fire which was marked by several minor explosions. The building, a one-story wooden structure situated apart from the main college buildings, was not seriously damaged. Loss on the contents, however, probably will be heavy, officials said. Most of the students slept through the fire. A gas jet left burning, was believed to have caused the fire.

MT. ST. CHARLES COLLEGE CAMPAIGN

The campaign in this city, for the raising of funds for the Mt. St. Charles college at Woonsocket, R.I., will be launched Thursday night, when the committee in charge of the local drive will meet at the home of Mrs. Anna de Lamotte in Salem street. The drive is for $500,000, but Lowell's quota has not as yet been set.

A meeting of the presidents of the various French Catholic societies of this city was held Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph's college, at the request of Lawyer J. H. Gullett, president of the French-American Catholic Federation of New England. Fred P. Drouin was chosen chairman of the meeting and Arthur Laviolette secretary. The speaker was Joseph Lusier of Montreal, chairman of the general committee of the drive. It was explained that the amount of $500,000 will be raised through public subscriptions, and the following committee was appointed to have charge of the local end of the campaign: Charles R. Drouin, director; Fred P. Drouin, chairman; Raoul Monier, first vice chairman; Arthur Morvan, second vice chairman; Miss Rosanna Gagnon, third vice chairman; Rosalind Leclair, fourth vice chairman; Mrs. Jules Duchesne, fifth vice chairman; and Oscar Therberge, sixth vice chairman; Edmond Lambert, secretary; Philippe H. Bourque, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Anna de Lamotte, treasurer.

AUTOMOBILE DAMAGED

An automobile owned and operated by Bernard F. McArdle of this city was badly damaged in a collision which occurred this morning on the Black North road in Dracont. The accident was reported to the police by McArdle, who claims that he stopped his car to allow another machine to go by, but the latter instead of keeping to the right, swung to the left and crashed into the McArdle auto. No one was injured in the collision.

LINCOLN BROS. CIRCUS COMING TOMORROW

Tomorrow is circus day. The day when juvenile dreams come true and the old become young again. The Lincoln Brothers' circus and trained animal shows combined will arrive in Lowell bright and early tomorrow morning. Two exhibitions will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. but those who want to visit the menagerie tent should go an hour earlier. The doors will be open at one and seven to allow everyone who visits the big show to first get acquainted with the many animal attractions carried with the Lincoln's shows. The big show program abounds with new features and novelties. The performing ponies, horses, bucking mules and other animal acts are said to be some of the most perfectly trained acts ever exhibited with any circus. The number of aerial performers and clowns exceed the number usually carried in the large shows with the result that ample amusement is provided for every spectator seated under the big canvas. The show carries an enormous spread of new canvas all waterproof, the seats are of the most modern construction provided with a foot rest and high backs. The many uniformed attendants are courteous and obliging and visitors to this circus tomorrow cannot help but feel impressed by the fact that nothing has been left undone to add to their enjoyment. The management lays particular stress upon the fact that the show is one of the best, cleanest and most moral shows ever exhibited in any city. A great deal of money has been spent to obtain high class attractions and not one objectionable feature will be found in the whole outfit. Menus should be made too of the fine music carried with the Lincoln show. The band composed of all experienced musicians is a credit to the Lincoln show. A half hour concert will be given before each performance and during the time the audience is being seated. The grand free street parade is scheduled to move over the principal streets of the city at noon to be followed by a big free open air attraction on the show grounds in Gorham street immediately following. The circus carries a large side show and pit shows as well.

HOUSE ADDS $200,000 FOR "DRY" AGENTS

WASHINGTON, May 24.—After heated discussion of the prohibition question, during which Commissioner Kramer was bitterly criticized and as vigorously defended, the house yesterday voted an additional $200,000 for enforcement of the Volstead act until July 1.

Representative Volstead proposed the increase in the total of the deficiency appropriation bill, which the house was considering, to permit retention on federal payrolls of 700 prohibition agents, who Mr. Kramer had announced would be dropped for the remainder of the fiscal year because of shortage of funds. The Volstead amendment was adopted, 77 to 33, less than one-fourth of the house membership being present, but another vote can be demanded before the bill is passed. Even the members who favored the amendment, however, doubted whether it would afford relief in time to be of much value, inasmuch as the bill after passage by the house must go to the senate.

During the wrangling, Chairman Good of the appropriations committee, who opposed the amendment, said Mr. Kramer had violated postal provisions of law by inserting a deficit and "had made himself liable to jail sentence."

"I want Mr. Kramer to obey the law just as much as bootleggers," he declared, adding that $6,900,000 already had been appropriated for prohibition enforcement during the current fiscal year.

Representative Madden, republican, Illinois, said Mr. Kramer should have appealed for funds to congress through the secretary of the treasury instead of through the newspapers and asserted that he "ought to be discharged."

Mr. Kramer was defended by Representative Byrns, Tennessee, ranking member.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR CATARRH, CATARRH, DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrh of the Ears, Head Noises, or ordinary Catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer, perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease in the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Epsom salt (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the Eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action which helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, cost little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.

democrat on the appropriations committee, as a conscientious official doing his best to enforce the law. Mr. Volstead also defended Mr. Kramer's administration. As the house milled through the deficiency bill yesterday a provision for the creation of an office of First assistant secretary of the treasury, at a salary of $4,000 a year, and an amendment by Representative Davis, democrat, Tennessee, providing for purchase by the government of $100,000,000 of farm loan bank bonds, were eliminated on points of order. One provision approved would permit the treasury department to spend any part of the $18,000,000 appropriation for additional hospital facilities for disabled service men in the improvement of existing facilities. The original bill provided that $12,500,000 was to be expended for new hospitals.

Save Freight

Save Freight and Give Your Goods Greater Protection

"Atlas" Plywood Packing Cases weigh only one-half as much as 13/16 solid lumber boxes. This means an enormous saving in freight bills.

"Atlas" Cases are made of 3-ply hardwood veneer, cross-banded and reinforced with four clear spruce cleats. Each side, end, top and bottom is one whole piece of non-absorbent plywood—there are no joints or knot holes to admit dust, dirt or moisture.

"Atlas" Plywood Panel Construction removes the necessity of using hooks, but if hooks are used, freight handlers naturally attach them to the cleats and consequently do not even mar the appearance of the case.

"Atlas" Plywood Packing Cases, because of their construction, require less thickness than solid lumber boxes to withstand equal shocks and strains. They are resilient.

The easiest way to show your customers your progressiveness and attention to the most minute details in shipping your product, giving it the utmost protection en route and having it arrive in perfect condition, is to ship in the up-to-date, economical "Atlas" Plywood Packing Cases.

Johnny Kilbane Compares The Old and New Pugs

BY JOHNNY KILBANE
Featherweight Champion

The question often has been asked whether present day fighters of the type of Jack Dempsey or Georges Carpentier, who clash July 2 for the heavyweight championship, could stand under the old-time finish fight of half a hundred rounds or more.

Take the great John L. Sullivan, who over Jake Kilrain in 75 rounds, won in 1889, for example, or the 31-round draw that Jim Corbett fought with Peter Jackson in 1891 at Fresno.

Either Dempsey or Georges could go that route today—but fans would be treated to an altogether different style of fighting from that they will see at Jersey. And it would prove far less interesting.

Battle With Caution

When a fighter goes into a finish fight, he battles with extreme caution. Not a surplus step is taken, not a blow is wasted. He conserves all his energy for the grueling rounds that are to come later.

In a short fight, such as that scheduled for Dempsey and Carpentier, both men were in and fight from the time the bell rings, knowing that there will be at most only 30 minutes of actual fighting and that they need save no more than enough stamina to carry them over that comparatively short time.

Coastal Get Edge

The inclination of a boxer to save himself for the wind-up of his fight is shown by the experience of eastern boxers on the Pacific coast. In and around San Francisco fights usually are scheduled for only four rounds. Eastern fighters, used to fighting 12 or 15 rounds, step into the ring and start off slowly, from force of habit. Coast boxers, familiar with the four-round bouts, are off like chain lightning with the bell. And they keep their fists flying continuously, with the result that they often have the bout won on points before the stranger on the coast wakes up to the fact.

Devoted Difference

A short fight means hammer and long lighting; a long fight means a slow and measured study.

That's why I say that, taking into consideration even the different fighting style of Dempsey and Carpentier, the Jersey battle, from the fan's viewpoint, will be a better and livelier one than were the long-drawn-out battles of by-gone days.

WINCHESTER JUNIOR RIFLE CORPS SHOOT

With a remarkable rifle score of 72 out of a possible 75, David Browning, a local lad, was declared the victor in the first annual shoot of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps, held last evening in Y.M.C.A. hall. Twenty-four chosen boys, the leaders in marksmanship from 12 units, competed. The judges were: Lieut. Edward B. Daly, E. H. Anderson and Woodbury K. Howe. The range was in charge of George B. Allan, while T. R. Williams was clerk.

Young Browning was presented with a silver driving belt by Woodbury K. Howe, the donor, while Lieut. Britons Tune Up for Invasion of United States

Duncan and Mitchell, Golfers, Will Play for Open Title

BY DEAN SNYDER

George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, English golf stars, are practicing their swing preparatory to invading America.

They'll try to duplicate the tour of Ted Ray and Harry Vardon last summer.

Vardon and Ray played in 68 matches of which they won 50, lost 13 and tied three.

The visiting Britons traveled more than 40,000 miles and played 26,000 holes of golf. When they sailed home on Nov. 6 they took with them nearly $50,000 as their earnings for their exhibition tour.

Ray took along the American national open golf title, too.

The tour of Duncan and Mitchell has been similarly planned.

Sail July 2

They sail for the United States July 2. While here they will play in the national open tournament.

Duncan and Mitchell are given greater golf stars as individual players than Vardon and Ray. They are regarded so strong as a team combination, however.

Duncan's Speed

Duncan is known as the speed marvel of the links.

He plays his shots so fast that caddies can hardly keep up with him.

The English national open was copied by him last summer.

On three separate other occasions Duncan would have won it if he had turned in a good last round.

Last June, after being 12 strokes behind at the end of the first day's play in the championship match, he made a brilliant rally and turned in two excellent rounds of 70 and 71 which won him.

Mitchell's Drive

Mitchell is noted for his long driving powers.

Five years ago he was going in the amateur ranks.

Last season he won five of the biggest tournaments in the British Isles.

If Duncan and Mitchell would extend their tour again until they are dressed in civies. There's a private subway leading from the bench to the clubhouse.

Some folks sing "Over the Hills and Far Away." Babe Ruth illustrates it.

RUTH VS. KELLY

Each Home Run Artist Responsible for 19 Runs

NEW YORK, May 24.—The supremacy of Babe Ruth in a variation of home run batting is threatened by George Kelly, the lanky first baseman of the Giants, who, after experience with the Giants, was sent by Manager McGraw to the Rochester International league because of weak hitting ability and was repurchased in the fall of 1919, is proving a worthy rival in the struggle which has gripped the interest of the baseball public throughout the country.

This year he has been the sensation of the major leagues. His first home run drive antedated that of Ruth by three days. When the Yankee star got his range and started to pump the balls into the outfield range, Kelly continued right on his trail and today the score was Ruth 12, Kelly 8. In the nip-and-tuck struggle.

Kelly hits more opportunely than Ruth. This is reason his circuit smashes have come with less frequency. Ruth's 12 home runs have resulted in 12 scores for the Yankees. Kelly's eight drives have sent the score by yards.

ROMMEL HAS THE YANKS' GOAT

By HAL COCHRAN

Georges Carpentier has come to the United States from France to fight Jack Dempsey for the heavy-weight title less known than any fighter who ever went into a world championship fight. Hal Cochran, in this story of Carpentier's life, written for The Sun, tells of the struggles of the one-time olive oil boy in rising to the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

CHAPTER 4

Georges Carpentier, with a long string of victories over English fighters, had not yet clashed with an American opponent up to the early part of 1915.

Frank Loughrey of Pittsburgh at this time was creating quite a stir across the pond, and Georges was signed to battle him in Paris. The bout went the way of the Englishman, but Carpentier had all the best of it.

Success had been so kind to Georges in bouts with his countrymen that but one fighter stood between him and the welterweight championship of France. This fighter, Robert Rustache, had cleaned up all of the topnotch scrappers, and the welter crown rested on his head.

Wins Championship

The scrap was arranged and Carpentier won a decision and the championship in 15 rounds.

Through all the training for his many fights, Mme. Vanhille, Carpentier's mother-in-law, had been Carpentier's guardian angel. She watched over him and always in Georges' younger days saw that her handsome "son" was not bothered by the young girls.

"I do not blame the girls," she says, "Georges is so handsome, clever and famous. But I scare them off."

Shortly after coupling the welter crown Georges fought two more English battles, Jack Fieldsman, in 10 rounds, and Arthur Evernden, in 15 rounds, and was then matched with Dixie Kid, an American negro fighter.

Klaus Wins on Foot

The first, Frank Klaus, Pittsburgh "Bearcat," gave the little Frenchman a terrible mauling. Georges also slipped in some telling punches and when Klaus was declared winner on a foul, the crowd roared. Both fighters were in a bad way.

The second, Billy Papke, had trimmed Marcel Moreau, Carpentier's main French rival, and Georges challenged him. The Yankee slipped over a wicked punch to Carpentier's left eye in the 17th round, and Manager Desamps withdrew Georges from the battle, citing Papke the decision. Still nursing on weight, Georges slipped into the light heavyweight division and was next matched with Moreau.

HARDING INVITED TO DEMP.-CARP. FIGHT

AMUSEMENT NOTES

BY E. M. THIERRY
JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 24.—Reformers are wasting their time trying to make Gov. Edwards stop the Dempsey-Carpenter fight July 2.

"They might as well save their breath," Gov. Edwards told me when I asked him what he was going to do about protests by churchmen and other organizations.

"I will not go to his office in the Jersey City First National bank, and smilingly made it very plain that the fight is going to take place no matter how many protests he receives; that he himself is going to attend it; and that he has invited President Harding and members of the cabinet to be his guests at the fight.

"I don't think those protests against the Dempsey-Carpenter match," said the governor, "it's too short. He referred to official protests sent him by the Reformed Church Synod of New Brunswick, the Clergymen's Community Club of New Jersey and the Cam-the governor could be read with amusement the diatribe against the bout pronounced by Bishop Edwin S. Jones at the 47th annual convention of the Methodist Episcopal church. "It's a funny thing the way some ministers jump on boxing with both feet," said the governor. "And yet they don't seem to have any fault to find with the prizefight." The governor's ringside on July 2. Protests against the match are ridiculous. It's simply a holier than thou proposition. The governor has no objection to boxing exhibitions with no refereed decision. If the law isn't any good, yet the reformers take it off the statute books.

Why do they keep picking on boxing, I wonder? Boxing is an institution. The government recognized it as a big asset during the war. They used boxing to keep the boys from going bad. Boxing made the boys in better soldiers. It gave them self-reliance, a better eye, a knowledge of their own strength and many other worthy attributes.

"If boxing was good enough to help us win the war, why isn't it good enough to help us win now?" said the governor.

It is absurd for reformers to say that the Dempsey-Carpentier bout will attract thousands and people of the under classes will be benefited.

"They talk about brutality! Why, there is less brutality in boxing than in football. And baseball is not without its injuries and even deaths.

"I've heard the reformers are trying to hit at me because my brothers C. E. and J. W. Edwards, have the contract for building the arena. What harm in that? I suppose the church people forget, speaking of the arena."

that the job of building it provided labor for a good many people out of work.

FIREMEN LOOKING FOR BALL GAME

Members of the second platoon of the local fire department have organized a baseball team for the season and the team is shaping up to look like a snappy outfit.

Last week the team played its first game of the season, playing the Kings ball school and winning with a score of eight to six.

Last week night of this week the team will play the strong Lawrence A. team on the North coast mound.

Games are expected to be played with the following fire departments

The lineup of the team is much the same as last year, but the team will be looked after by the following committee of eight: George A. Crawford, manager; Peter Regan, captain; William S. Holt, secretary; John J. Rinehart, treasurer, and Messrs. Merrill, Broadbent, Grandchamp and Gorman, Messrs. Corbett and Mullen, manager and captain of last year's team. This platoon, are with the outfit, h

The team is fully equipped with uniforms, and all the necessary equipment needed by a first class baseball team even carrying base bags in case the game is not finished on the grounds.

Challenges have been mailed to the above named teams during the past week and answers to the same are being eagerly looked for by the local team.

There isn't a poor spot in the bill being presented at B. Keith's theatre this week. It is one of the best-balanced series of offerings that local vaudeville lovers have had the pleasure to witness in some time. Young confines herself to a comedy that brings out some traits of humanity of a particular type. The situation of the disappointed character who finds that her millionaire lovers are not as numerous or generous as formerly made a big hit. The less amusing was her delineation of the avenging spirit of the comedienne whose sweetheart is about to desert her.

Miss Young belongs to the class of vocal entertainers. She is 'big' on any bill. William Sully and Genevieve Howard are entitled to second place for their decidedly new and exhilarating 'Half Love,' a most amusing story. THE STRAND THEATRE
"The Penalty," featuring a man in the title role, is the highlight of the Strand for the first three of the week. It is an unusual play, a gripping story unfurling the life of an individual possessing half of a normal mind. It is from the pen of Gouverneur Morris. The story is told with a man, who, in his youth

The entertainment committee presented Miss A. Olney, professor of chemistry and physics at the Lowell Textile school, as the day's speaker. Prof. Olney gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the dyeing industry of this country, its connection with the manufacture of ammunition and poisonous gas, and the necessity of a protective tariff for a few years until the American dyeing industry became strong enough to compete with the foreign manufacturers of the various synthetic dyes. The speaker traced the evolution of over 1000 different dyes from coal tar through the various chemical processes to the finished product and stated that while this country was not yet able to produce all of the colors produced abroad, those which were produced here were just as good and just as fast colors as could be produced anywhere. At the conclusion of

TAG TIGER HUNTS

OFF HE STARTED, THE COUNCIL OF CREATURES AND THE TWINS TROOPING AFTER

Pretty soon Nick and Nancy returned with a peck of pepper-corns. Nancy carrying most of them in her apron. Flippety-Flap and all the jungle creatures were waiting.

"Now, then," said the fairyman, sitting down on a stone and laying the coffee-mill on his knee. "Everybody hold his nose, for I'm going to grind up these pepper-corns into powder, and it's very sneezy."

When it was finished Flippety-Flap poured the whole business into a paper bag and put the coffee-mill neatly away.

"Now come along, folks," he commanded next. "The time has come for us to do something."

Off he started, the Council of Creatures and the twins trooping after.

They stopped at Woolly Wart-bog's hole first. Woolly crawled in, and Flippety-Flap sprinkled some pepper-corn on his door step.

Next came Andy Antelope, and after he'd got settled in his house, Flippety-

Flap did the same thing.

Every creature crawled into his hole, and after he'd got safely inside the fairyman sprinkled pepper around.

Then he and Nancy and Nick hid.

After while old Tag Tiger woke up hungry-as-a-tiger. He stretched and yawned and decided to hunt some dinner. So he came sneeping through the jungle on his great paddy-feet as quiet as puss-in-the-corner.

He licked his whiskers as he went and kept rolling his sleepy-looking eyes this way and that, watchfully.

"I haven't had a dinner of gazelle for a blue moon," he muttered to himself. "I think I'll go and see if any of the family are at home." So off he trotted to the gazelle's house, where he stopped and sniffed.

"Yes," he cried joyfully. "Gazzy's at home for I smell him." Just then he gave a loud "Kerchoo!" which echoed through the jungle.

Can you cut a pie evenly? If not, use a knife like the one shown above. It is fastened to the edge of the plate and quarters the pie at one stroke.

SISTER MARY SAYS TO USE REASON

The ice chamber of your ice box was not meant for foods. Vegetables kept right on the ice prevent free circulation of cold air and rob the other parts of the refrigerator of adequate refrigeration.

The section directly under the ice chamber is the coldest part of the ice box. Cold air "settles," forcing warm air up. Milk and butter and any foods that need to be kept specially cool should be stored in this part of the refrigerator.

Menu For Tomorrow

Breakfast—Fruit, buttered eggs on toast, coffee.

Luncheon—Potato soup, toasted crackers, butter scotch pie, tea.

Dinner—Mutton broth, fish croquettes, radishes, hot rolls, asparagus soufflé, strawberries, sponge cake, coffee.

My Own Recipes

After boiling the mutton until the meat drops from the bones strain broth. Then add barley to broth and boil for an hour. The barley should be blanched and parboiled before adding to the broth.

Buttered Eggs on Toast

Four eggs, 4 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, buttered toast.

Melt butter, but do not let bubble. Beat eggs slightly with salt and pepper. Pour into skillet containing melted butter and stir briskly until thick. Pour over toast and serve.

Butter Scotch Pie

One cup brown sugar, ½ cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, baked pie shell.

Mix sugar, boiling water and butter. When boiling add the flour mixed with the yolk of egg and milk. Stir until thick. Pour into shell and cover with white of egg beaten until stiff and dry with 2 tablespoons of sugar.

UNIQUE TOMB AND CHAPEL

Magr. O'Brien Having Receiving Tomb Built at St. Patrick's Cemetery

Caskets Lowered Through Chapel Floor and Conveyed to Tomb

Under the direction of Magr. William O'Brien, Mr. John Meagher, son of Supt. Meagher of St. Patrick's cemetery, has drawn plans for a chapel and a receiving tomb to be constructed in the Catholic cemetery at the end of St. Patrick street. When completed, this will be one of the most up-to-date receiving tombs to be found in any part of New England. The chapel will be 35 by 25 feet in the interior and will have an opening in the floor through which the caskets can be lowered to a concrete channel leading to the receiving tomb. The tomb is already well advanced towards completion. The walls are of stone, the floor of cement, and the roof of reinforced concrete, every part of it being absolutely water-tight. It will have a capacity for holding 200 caskets, resting on steel racks and arranged in order so that there will be no difficulty in removing any that may be called for as relatives may require. The chapel for which the foundation is now being built will be finished in trimmings of granite and marble, with a tower and cross. The floor will be of terrazzo and there will be three windows of ornamental leaded glass on either side. The chapel will be some distance from the tomb, but will be connected by a channel leading from the center of the floor through which the caskets will be conveyed by a sort of trolley arrangement. The chapel will have a heating system that will make it comfortable in the coldest weather. The work of construction throughout will be supervised by Mr. John Meagher. For some time past, Magr. O'Brien has had in mind the construction of a receiving tomb in the cemetery for the convenience of those who may not wish to carry out the burials in cold weather. He has known of many instances in which people in poor health contracted fatal illness while attending burials in the cemetery. This can be avoided by using the receiving tomb. The intention is to have the burials conducted in the mild weather of spring. Magr. O'Brien states that this undertaking will cost a very considerable amount of money, but he feels that the convenience that it will offer to

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

Party of Canadian Knights Templar Entertained at Vesper Country Club

Lowell played host to a number of distinguished Canadian Knights Templar this noon when several of the officers of Richard Coeur de Lion preceptory of Montreal, Canada, who have been visiting De Molay commandery, No. 1, R.T., in Boston during the past few days, were entertained at the Vesper Country club by the council and past commanders of Pilgrim commandery, No. 9, of this city. Distinguished guests, J. Williamson, grand master, with his party of 30, including a number of ladies, made the trip from Montreal by way of Lake George and the Berkshires and this afternoon started on their homeward journey by way of the White mountains. Mayor Perry D. Thompson was one of the guests at this noon's luncheon.

TAUNTON BUILDING STRIKE ENDS

TAUNTON, May 24.—The union carpenters, masons and plumbers of this city who have been on strike since May 2, as a result of a disagreement with their employers over an announced reduction in wages, returned to work yesterday at reduced pay pending arbitration. Approximately 500 men are involved. Previous to May 2, the men received $1 an hour, and the employers reduced this to 75 cents an hour for the carpenters, and 50 cents for the masons and plumbers. Later, the union men made a compromise offer of 90 cents an hour for all trades. The employers then offered 80 cents to the carpenters and 55 cents to masons and plumbers. In reference to arbitration, the union's representatives and the master carpenters' and masons' association have agreed that one member of the arbitration board should be selected by the union, and one by the employers. The employers desire to have Mayor Coughlin appoint the third member of the board, but the union men selected by the other members of the board, and in the event an agreement cannot be reached, to have Mayor Coughlin serve as the third man. No decision as to the other arbitrator has been reached. Pending arbitration the men returned to work on the following wage schedule: carpenters, 50 cents an hour, masons and plumbers, 55 cents an hour. Those who use the cemetery warrants the expense. Supt. Meagher is cleaning up the works of the cemetery and making other preparations for the Memorial day observance.

ELECTION DAY IN IRELAND

Voting to Name 52 Members of Parliament From Northern Counties

Craig Urges People to Fly Union Jack—De Valera Makes Appeal

DELFEST, May 24.—Six counties of northern Ireland, Antrim, Armagh, Down, Fermanagh, Londonderry and Tyrone, and the parliamentary boroughs of Londonderry and Belfast engaged today in an election of members of the parliament of northern Ireland. This body, created by the Irish act, recently passed by the British parliament, will contain 52 members. Voting began at 8 o'clock and government authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent disorder. Fighting, however, was apprehended in this city and in many districts where the people were called to the polls. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. The polls will close in most districts at 3 o'clock tonight, but in a few they will remain open until 3 o'clock. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday, when Sir James Craig, premier-designate for Ulster, issued an appeal to members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag last night, even the sidewalks and lampposts being brilliant with the British colors. The nationalists, who adopted as their slogan the cry of "No partition," fought a hard battle, and Joseph Devlin has led his party in addressing meetings throughout the counties where voting took place today. Women took an active part in the campaign, holding demonstrations and canvassing voters. De Valera Makes Plea DEUBLIN, May 24.—(By The Associated Press.)—Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, in a message to the Ulster constituencies last night said the votes of Northern Ulster can solve the Irish problem in the polling booth. He added: "Vote tomorrow against war with your fellow-countrymen. Vote that a brother's hand may not have to be raised against a brother's, and so that there may be an end to the boycott and retaliation, and to partition, disunion and ruin. "Lead the world by our example. Make a genuine people's peace and live in history as having created a truly united Irish nation. The orange and the green together can command the future."

Begins Probe of McGilvary Death

BOSTON, May 24.—District Attorney Peletier today began an investigation into the death of Paton C. McGilvary, former overseas flier. Witnesses summoned by the district attorney included Mrs. Evelyn Clifford, a friend of McGilvary, in whose mail box on May 10, the day McGilvary was killed, was found a note which the police regarded as a farewell message from the former flier. Dr. Leary and several police officers also were heard, together with most of the witnesses previously interrogated by them.

For Development of Lumber Business

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Lumbermen and members of lumber associations met with Secretary Hoover today at his invitation, with a view to working out a plan of co-operation with the department of commerce for development of the business. The plan contemplates the supplying of statistical information covering current prices, stocks on hand, production and shipment so that the government, the industry and the public may be kept advised as to conditions.

Excise Taxes Ordered Refunded

BOSTON, May 24.—Excise taxes collected by the state from the Hood Rubber Co., and the Olympia Theatres, Inc., in connection with the changing of stock of stated value into stock of no par value were ordered refunded today by the supreme court. The court held that unissued stock without par value did not constitute an increase in capital and therefore was not subject to an excise tax.

Renew Efforts to End Ship Strike

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Secretary of Labor Davis continued his efforts today to bring about a settlement of the marine workers' wage controversy, planning to confer first with Winthrop L. Marvin, representing the American Ship Owners' association. Inasmuch as the two New York locals of the engineers' union have repudiated the agreement between Chairman Benson of the shipping board and members of the engineers' district council, reached late last week, there was some question as to who was authorized to speak for the engineers. Andrew Furuseth, president of the seamen's union, already has submitted a proposition to Secretary Davis and it was expected this would be considered today.

SALMON ABLE TO SIGN PAPERS

Council Members Base Their Action on Statement by Dr. Mahoney

Order Adopted to Pay Dummer Street Extension Court Awards

No provisional director to take over temporarily the administration of the department during the incapacity of Commissioner John F. Salmon will be appointed by the municipal council despite plans to the contrary which were under way yesterday.

The statement of Dr. Francis R. Mahoney that Commissioner Salmon would be able to sign payrolls, contracts and other similar duties despite his injuries has put a quietus on plans for the appointment of a provisional director. Action was to have been taken at today's meeting of the municipal council but when it was learned that Commissioner Salmon will be able to perform the administrative duties of his office while in the hospital, a proposed ordinance providing for a directorship was put in the waste basket.

The council voted to pay the various awards granted by a jury in the superior court last week to various persons whose property was taken several years ago in connection with the extension of Dummer street. "The sums

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

"Well, there was no criminal negligence found here—as usual," was the comment of Judge Thomas H. Wright at the police court this morning, in dismissing for lack of prosecution the charge of manslaughter against Fred H. Gilman, held in connection with the death of Antoine St. George. An automobile operated by Gilman struck St. George on the night of April 23, on Merrimack street, causing injuries which later resulted in his death.

When Gilman was arrested, William J. Burbeck, owner of the motor truck which the defendant had been driving, furnished surety in the sum of $200. There were a number of continuances to await the inquest findings. Yesterday this finding was submitted by Judge John J. Pickman, who failed to discover any criminal negligence on the part of Gilman or any other person.

"Why didn't you blow your horn?" queried the court, after perusing the report made by Judge Pickman.

"I didn't think it was necessary," responded Gilman.

"Well have to dismiss this case," concluded His Honor, and Gilman was freed.

FARE REDUCTION IN EFFECT THURSDAY

The fare reduction on local lines of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., scheduled to become effective Wednesday, will not go into effect until Thursday morning, owing to a break-down of one of the presses of the Boston printing concern which is printing the company's new tickets.

Manager Lees of the Lowell district of the company had been promised his supply of tickets for yesterday afternoon, but when he sent a man for them it was learned that there had been a delay in getting them out. However, everything will be in readiness Thursday, Mr. Lees said today.

NEW CRISIS OVER SILESIA

PARIS, May 21.—Fighting between Germans and Poles in Silesia has created a new crisis over the policy to be followed by the allied nations regarding that former province of Germany, and it had a distinct influence on debate in the French chamber of deputies when it convened today after its week-end recess.

Many deputies were prepared to demand immediate occupation of the Ruhr district of Germany should the Berlin government refuse to take steps to withdraw German troops from the plebiscite zone without delay.

Today's session was attended by a large audience, men and women standing in line at the Quai d'Orsay entrance to the Palais Bourbon since midnight. They were willing to spend the whole night in the open in order that they might obtain seats when the doors were thrown open.

Details of the premier's policy were more or less of a mystery here, although there was much speculation by newspapers. None of them, however, was able to give the slightest inkling of his attitude.

BERLIN, May 21.—(By Associated Press)—Over crippled telegraph and telephone wires come reports from Oppeln that the Germans and Poles are engaged in heavy artillery and machine-gun firing all along the Oder, especially in the vicinity of Krapitz. Both sides are entrenching and the people in several of the towns are panic stricken.

"Getting Sunburnt in the Shade" might well be the title of the experience which patients at the new isolation hospital off Vacuum avenue are now undergoing every few days as part of their treatment against the ravages of tuberculosis, and most of them say that this method of tanning up has it all over sitting or lying on the scorching sand of some blistering hot beach with Old Sol pouring down his heat beams unmercifully.

Through the skill of scientists and chemists, all the beneficial elements of sunshine have been collected and concentrated in what is known as the Alpine Sun Lamp, an instrument which the hospital authorities are giving a three months' trial previous to purchasing it for permanent use. So far, although the lamp has been at the hospital only three weeks, the effect on the tubercular patients has been most gratifying and many of them are now sporting a tan which rivals the mid-season burn of the most enthusiastic beach devotee.

The Elements of Sunlight
As it has already been convincingly demonstrated that sunlight is one of the most potent enemies of tuberculosis, scientists and medical men have long been working to produce a machine which would concentrate the elements of sunlight so that they could be given to patients at any time or place. The lamp now at the isolation hospital is the latest result of years of study. It is of globular shape, swinging on the top of a large metal stand and containing a large amount of mercury. Electric current heats the mercury and with various other scientific arrangements working in harmony, the lamp produces ultra-violet rays. The patient lies on a cot or bed, and the lamp is placed over

The number plate attached to the rear of the mysterious rum-running car, which eluded the police after a hot chase and much utilization by the officers of their shooting irons, was that of a small, two-passenger Metz car, owned by a Fitchburg man. TRIAL OF UNCONTESTED DIVORCE CASES

The trial of uncontested divorce actions was speeded up in the superior court today by Judge Irwin. He brushed aside technical questions of lawyers, took a hand in framing interrogations, and made pointed comment on the testimony as it developed.

For a while he severed marital ties at the rate of one matrimonial knot untied every five minutes. This is below the record made at the last term of the court when 16 cases were disposed of in one hour.

The session was the first one at which divorce actions have been tried in this city since last fall. An unusual number of persons gathered in the corridors of the court house previous to the opening of the court. When Judge Irwin stepped to the bench in the grim old room formerly given over to the hearing of criminal cases the witnesses and spectators seats held an interested audience. The many-colored feminine millinery gave a touch of color to the room.

ANOTHER ARREST IN WALKER DEATH

John W. Wilson Held in Connection With Alleged Murder of Sailor

Had Charge of Commissary Department of Striking Seamen at Portland

PORTLAND, Me., May 21.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the alleged murder of James Walker, the New Bedford sailor, on Saturday, John W. Wilson, mariner, of this city being held as a material witness in the case.

It is understood, according to the police, that Wilson had charge of the commissary department of the striking seamen at union hall, which has been ordered closed by Chief Irving S. Watts. It was in this hall that the state alleges the raid on the schooner Mary F. Barrett, of which Walker was one of the crew, was planned.

The nature of the evidence disclosed by the arrest of Wilson is withheld by the county attorney.

MORE IMPORTANT FEATURES OF NEW CHARTER EXPLAINED

Board of Health and Supervisor of School Hygiene---The Budget and Auditing Commission---Board of Assessors and the Commissions

In the following article from the charter commission, two of the most important features of the new charter are explained, namely, the health board and the director of school hygiene and the budget and auditing commission. These features are new and were not objected to by the committee on cities. The commission believes the school hygiene will afford much greater protection to the children and that the budget and auditing commission will result in effecting a great saving in preventing extravagance.

Functions of the Board of Health

Section 23--Provides for a board of health of three members. The present membership is terminated with the new charter, and successors are nominated and confirmed for terms of one, two and three years respectively, and thereafter for the term of three years. Present powers and duties of the board of health are continued, and in addition complete control and management of the isolation hospital is placed under the supervision of the board of health, which includes the appointment of a superintendent and all subordinate employees. An important change is to be noted in directing the board of health to organize and establish a sub-department to be known as the department of school hygiene. The board shall appoint a director of school hygiene who shall be a physician of reputable standing and possessed of special training and experience in public health service. He shall devote his entire time to the service of the city. Under the direction of the board of health he shall exercise supervision of school nurses and other physicians that may be appointed for special school work and put in effect reasonable health regulations that will tend to minimize and prevent the spread of communicable diseases among school children of the entire city. It shall be the duty of the director of school hygiene to keep a record of the names of all school children affected with communicable diseases as same are reported to the board of health, and to issue after an examination a certificate of health certifying that a child is free from communicable disease before being eligible to return to school. The salary of the director of school hygiene shall be established by the board of health. All powers and duties now

Medical Supervision of Schools

The commission has provided for a more perfect and thorough medical supervision of our school children with the object of preventing as far as possible the spread of communicable diseases. This important work has been transferred to the board of health instead of remaining with the school committee who vote thousands of dollars away in salaries, but never seem to give much thought to health supervision of school children. The director of school hygiene must be a full-time serving physician who will give his entire time to the service of the city and possess of special knowledge in school and health hygiene work. The board of health may also appoint one or more temporary or permanent physicians to assist the director of school hygiene in special work in the control of the department. Communicable diseases become epidemic among children often times because they are not checked at the start by the enforcement of reasonable rules and regulations.

Board of Assessors

Section 21--Relates to the board of assessors. Present membership shall terminate and successors shall be nominated and confirmed in the same manner and for the same terms as the board of health. Present powers and duties are not affected.

Board of Commissioners

Sections 25-26-27--Relates to the board of park commissioners, board of license commissioners board of election commissioners and board of library trustees. Present membership of these boards shall remain in office until their respective terms expire. No change in tenure of office or duties are now exercised.

Budget and Auditing Commission

Section 22--Provides for a budget and auditing commission of three citizens, not members of the city council or employees of the city, nominated by the mayor, and confirmed by the city council, for terms of one, two and three years respectively and thereafter for terms of three years. The salary shall be established by the city council, but must not exceed $500 a year for each member. This board shall assist the mayor in the preparation of the annual budget, and for this purpose may examine all books and records of departments and submit to the mayor their recommendations of respective amounts which make up the budget. The mayor, however, is not obliged to accept such recommendations, or include same in his budget as submitted to the city council. Their duties as related to the preparation of the annual budget are advisory only. The auditing commission shall also examine and certify for payment. If found to be correct, all invoices, bills and payments due or presented for payment by the several departments if they withhold approval the mayor shall notify the city auditor who shall not approve any bill or invoice or payment due until such time as it is approved by a majority of the auditing commission.

Auditing the Bills

This is one of the most important sections of the new charter. Hundreds of monthly bills are presented in the course of a year against the city for payment. The fact that but little is ever heard or said about the correctness of these bills does not mean that all are proper and correct and should be paid without question. The approval of monthly bills now is simply a perfunctory matter. Each commissioner dumps his monthly bills upon the table for approval by the city council and no commissioner objects to the others by failure to approve. If he does, perhaps his own bills may be questioned. They are all approved without comment. After this loose and indifferent method of approval the only man who stands between the City of Lowell and the payment of an improper bill is the city auditor and he is not going to incur the displeasure of the city council very often by refusing to approve their official sanction to the payment of a bill, although in justice to the present city auditor it must be said that he has been quite careless in this respect. The commission believes that three men, disinterested citizens, who do not care a rap whom they offend, and removed from the atmosphere of city hall, should look over and approve the monthly bills presented against the city before they are certified by the auditor for payment. It will check heads of departments presenting improper bills for payment, if they know their bills will have to pass the inspection and cold analysis of three disinterested citizens serving on such a board, and not afraid to ask questions. The next article will explain the duties of the new board of public service.

OLD FRIGATE BURNED

Granite State, Once the
Pride of the Navy Destroyed
in Spectacular Blaze

NEW YORK, May 24.—The New York naval training ship Granite State, once the pride of the navy, yesterday was burned to the water's edge in a spectacular fire in which sailors dived through port holes after flooding the magazine.

The wooden old frigate for years had lain in the Hudson river, moored at Riverside Drive and 97th street, a few feet from the landing at which President Harding yesterday came ashore from the Mayflower. Seamen on the presidential yacht saw the Granite State suddenly enveloped in flames. Firemen later concluded that a break in an oil pipe line under the river had coated the water with a thick film and that a motor boat, back-firing, had set the oil ablaze.

The flames spread to the dock and threatened naval militia barracks nearby and the State Naval school training ship Newport, moored alongside. The Newport was hastily towed into midstream.

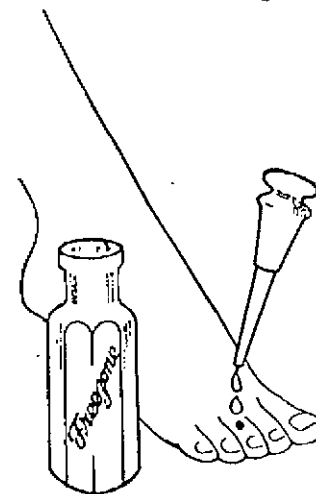

Salvors aboard the Granite State sought to fight the blaze, but the old frigate ate into the sides of the old frigate and soon she listed hard to port. After flooding the magazine, in which was stored blank ammunition used for saluting purposes, the men aboard her jumped for safety, many being forced to work their way through port holes. In a few seconds the water was dotted with sailor lads, all of whom were hauled safely ashore. The firemen, helped by volunteers from the hundreds of seamen enjoying shore leave from the destroyers anchored offshore, leaped onto the old training ship, in a vain effort to save her. They had a narrow escape when the chains that held her to her dock snapped and she rolled over on her side.

The Granite State, formerly the U.S.S. New Hampshire, had a service record extending back more than 100 years. Her keel was laid in Kittery, Me., she was commissioned in 1818 in the presence of James Monroe, fifth president of the United States, and saw varied duty until yesterday, when she was viewed for the last time by the country's 29th chief executive, Warren G. Harding.

She was on the battle line during the Civil war, but when she was replaced by the steel fighting craft that now bears her former name, she reverted to training purposes, eventually passing from federal to state control. Twice she returned briefly to federal service—once during the Spanish war and again during the world conflict.

PLANS FOR MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Plans for the memorial exercises to be held by the camp in company with other military organizations next Sunday and Monday were perfected by members of Gen. Adelbert Ames camp U.S.W.V., at its regular meeting in Memorial hall last evening.

Commander P. J. Burns was in the chair and one application was received and three members mastership in the annual outing of the camp will be held on Labor day. Dr. Clarence B. Livingston was minister in his camp services. Next Saturday afternoon the graves of deceased members will be decorated in the various cemeteries by the Memorial day committee and those desiring to assist will report to Commander Burns in the Edison cemetery at 1:30 p. m.

On Sunday the members of the camp will meet in Memorial hall at 10 a. m. and march in a body to St. Patrick's church to attend memorial services. The ladies auxiliary will meet at camp at the church. At 2:45 the comrades will again assemble in Memorial hall to take part in the G.A.R. services in the First Congregational church.

The general orders for Monday Memorial day, which embrace a program similar to that to be followed by the Lowell post of the American Legion, previously published, are as follows:

Memorial Day—May 30
The comrades will assemble at Memorial hall at 9:15 a. m. sharp, and in a body to the South common with the American Legion in a memorial mass.

The following are detailed for duty: Comrade Frank Rieg as chief musician to report to the officer of the day at 12:15 p. m. sharp; Comrades Walter R. Jones and Carroll L. Finck as aids of chief marshal's staff at 12:15; Comrades Carl H. Lambert and John P. Melville to report to Color Sergeant Frank H. Hiebke at Memorial hall.

JAPAN WOULD DISCUSS MANDATE WITH U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The state department has received from Japan a reply to the note dispatched by Secretary of State Hughes on April 6 on the subject of the mandate over the island of Yap, in which the United States took the position that Yap could not be disposed of without its consent.

The understanding of officials here is that Japan has not taken a definitive position on the Yap question. Inquiries at the Japanese Embassy developed the fact that no information concerning Yap has passed through the embassy. The communication received by the state department, therefore, came from the American embassy at Tokyo.

It was indicated in authoritative quarters that the United States is satisfied with the progress that is being made toward a solution of the Yap problem.

The text of the communication was not made public. The fact that satisfactory progress is being made indicates that Japan has shown no disposition to close the door to further discussion. The note is understood to have been phrased in courteous language, in marked contrast with the communication to which Secretary Hughes' note of April 6 was a reply.

It is understood that Japan has suggested the advisability of a direct discussion between Washington and Tokyo, rather than between the United States and all the allies. Japan maintains that he position as previously set forth was perfectly correct under the circumstances then existing, but that Mr. Hughes' note raised new questions, placing the American contentions on a new basis which must be examined.

It is unlikely that the United States will consent to discuss only with Japan, its position being that as a co-victor in the war and as one of the principally allied and associated powers America must give her consent to the disposition of any of Germany's former overseas possessions, the Versailles treaty having specifically surrendered them to the principal allied and associated powers.

No Confirmation of Fight
WASHINGTON, May 24.—Neither the navy department nor state department had received confirmation yesterday of the reported fight between American and Japanese sailors at Shanghai, China.

Secretary Denby was sure that if a serious clash had occurred he would have been promptly notified by Admiral Strauss, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

The inclination here was to believe that if a clash occurred it was between parties of sailors on shore leave and probably without any special significance.

The United States department of agriculture is equipping a steamship to use as a practical laboratory in which to study the shipping of citrus fruits and apples from the Pacific coast to eastern markets by way of the Panama Canal. Cargo space will be divided into compartments having various conditions of temperature, humidity and ventilation.

A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE

West Buxton (Me.)—Read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's painful experience: "I am a mother of five children. My little girl two years old was so sick with fever she lay just as if she were dead for two weeks. I started giving her Dr. Tru's Elixir and she began to gain at once. Now I would not be without it. I feel very grateful to you."

No doubt this child had some stomach trouble due to worms. Scores of children have worms and their mothers don't know the trouble.

Common symptoms of worms: De-ranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, itching of the nose and rectum, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points on the tongue, slow fever.

Dr. Tru's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as family Laxative and Worm Expeller since 1851.—Adv.

GOV. COX HAS DOUBTS ON MOVIE CENSORSHIP

BOSTON, May 24.—Governor Cox yesterday took under advisement objections to an act to establish state censorship of motion pictures which is awaiting his signature.

At the close of a public hearing on the measure, which would give the commissioner of public safety jurisdiction over all films, the governor announced that his doubts had been aroused as to the bill's constitutionality on legal points brought forward by J. Albert Brackett, counsel for the opponents. Mr. Brackett asserted that as written, the measure "would forbid showing picture reels at all" and that the commissioner "would have to personally view every film" of a normal 10,000 a week shown in 700 theatres throughout the state.

Summing up Mr. Brackett said that "there are the same constitutional objections against this bill this year which last year induced Governor Coolidge to veto a similar measure." "I can understand how the state can regulate water and milk and things that have to do with the body," Governor Cox said, "but it is not clear to me where you would have the state stop with relation to the morals of the people."

SOLICITOR SAYS
CITY SAVED MONEY

"If interest on money amounts to anything in these days and if it has in the frozen financial year recently passed, a careful analysis of the sums of money involved in the land taking in Dummer street, which dates back almost five and one-half years, seems to show that while the city has just been ordered by the court to pay to the Merrill and Dempsey estates sums in settlement considerably in excess of the amounts quoted in 1916, in the long run the city has emerged a winner," said City Solicitor William A. Regan today. It seems only fair to figure in interest on the money for the past four and one-half years, at say a rate of either 5 or 6 per cent. "It will be recalled that the Merrill estate would have settled its claim in 1916 for $272 and the Dempsey estate would have been satisfied with payments of $385 and $330, at three items totalling $1035. (In all these amounts the odd cents have been disregarded.)

"Judgment against the city in the grand total of $12,670 recently was returned in the superior court by a jury, sitting on the case. This is about $200 in excess of the amount that the claims could have been settled for in 1916.

"If the interest for 4½ years is computed on $10,357 at 6 per cent, the result is $2796.65. Add this to the principal and the result is $13,153.65. Now subtract the recent award of $12,670 and it is found that the city actually saved $483 by contesting the case.

"But 5 per cent, is a high rate of interest, you say. Very well, let us drop to 5 per cent. (and it only is fair to say that the prevailing rate has been about 5½ per cent, for the past five years) and what is found? Computed at 5 per cent, there is an actual saving to the city approximately $17.

"That is not much of a saving, is it true, but it stands on the 'games won' side of the standing, rather than on the side of the 'games lost.'"

TWO MONTHS IN JAIL

Westford Man Gets Direct Sentence For Operating Auto While Under Influence of Liquor

Two months in jail for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was the sentence imposed today by Judge Enright in the police court, on Alvin Jakubski, 25, of Westford. The defendant was arrested by Officers Burke, Conway and Mahoney, on the evening of Saturday, May 14. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. One of the arresting officers testified this morning that Jakubski was driving his machine on Whipple street, and was taken into custody just as he was going into the Wamsuit garage. There was one extraordinary circumstance, the officer stated the defendant was not going very fast. Through counsel, the defendant appealed from the house of correction sentence, and was bonded in the sum of $200 for his appearance June 1 in the superior court at Cambridge.

A leak in an ammonia tank at the Candyland in Central street shortly before 7 o'clock last evening was responsible for a telephone alarm to the fire department. The Protective company responded and stopped the leak. At 8:45 o'clock there was an alarm from Box 6 for a rubbish fire in a yard off First street.

Then the company refused to release that long a picture. So one reel was released as "His Faith" and the other as "His Faith Fulfilled." Many of Griffith's early pictures were only 400 to 600 feet long, two of them being run on one reel. Chaplin's Thoroughness When Charlie Chaplin was burned he

WHISKEY WAR IS RAGING ALONG RIO GRANDE

EL PASO, May 24.—War, grim war that costs human life, is being fought along the 1500-mile front of the Rio Grande.

The cause is whiskey. Whiskey, phalanx by men armed to kill in its defense, is brought into the United States from Mexico. It is carried on the backs of burros and men. Old women and young boys are employed as bootleg runners.

Here is the casualty list for the past few months:

DEAD
 E. W. Walker, prohibition officer.
 S. E. Beckett, prohibition officer.
 Arch Wood, prohibition officer.
 Isadore Lopez, smuggler.
 Jose Avila, smuggler.
 Ramon Mena, auto driver.

WOUNDED
 Joe Davenport, customs officer.
 Joseph E. Thomas, immigration officer.
 Corp. Kurns.
 Private Keller.
 Private Petrovski.
 Gertrude Montalva, smuggler.

Many engagements between federal forces and smugglers, in which no one is wounded or no liquor confiscated, are not reported. A number of smugglers have been wounded, but were hidden and cared for by comrades.

Gertrude Montalva was wounded when, it is charged, she attempted to carry a case of whiskey across the river. Smugglers attempted to protect her by laying down a barrage before her as she waded the river. When she fell at the place from which the barrage was sent they were fired upon from three directions.

Davenport was wounded when he and two other officers routed a band of smugglers and captured 354 quarts of whiskey. Six armed men rode in the van of four pack horses and seven burros.

Lopez was killed in a pitched battle between revenue men and 20 smugglers. E. W. Walker was killed in a battle with 20 smugglers fortified in trenches and adobe houses.

Avila was killed in a fight that ensued when he and four others refused to halt at the command of officers.

All-Night Battle
 Thomas and the three soldiers were wounded in a battle that started at 10 p. m. and lasted till daybreak. Three wounded smugglers escaped. A street car subsidized to carry soldiers from Camp Blaine to the battle was fired upon.

Mena was killed when he jumped from his auto and ran after being told to halt. Beckett and Wood were killed when they went in a hog ranch with a search warrant to hunt for liquor. They fired only one shot before they were shot down by men hidden in out-houses.

In a previous engagement the auto in which Beckett was pursuing smugglers was riddled with bullets. He confiscated 175 quarts of liquor and five gallons of alcohol. Wood in his first three weeks at El Paso captured 1000 quarts of whiskey, 13500 grains of narcotics and confiscated five autos.

Other officers seized booze valued at $20,000 the day after Walker was killed.

before Judge W. R. Smith on liquor charges.

Mixed Liquors
 Six hundred gallons of contraband liquor are stored in the basement of the old federal building, "Uncle Sam's cellar." It is of American, Mexican, Canadian, Scottish, Cuban and Chinese manufacture.

El Paso had ten prohibition officers until three were killed and Supervisor James H. Shevlin resigned.

Immigration men have quit because of the danger and there are only ten of these left.

C. C. Chase, son-in-law of Secretary of the Interior Fall, has been named collector of customs here.

Soldiers, police and men in the three branches of government service unite in the fight against armed smugglers, but even then are outnumbered.

C. A. Perkins, head of the immigration force, estimated that he needs 50 men to patrol J. L. Paso county and 150 for the remainder of his territory.

He has recommended that a guard on the order of the northwestern police be formed. He would have men ride the border in shifts and have strong searchlights at crossing places.

He would equip the guards with high-speed armored cars. They would work in conjunction with all departments of the government.

Young Girls Need Care

FROM the age of twelve a girl needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter make life easier for her.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. It can be taken in safety by any woman, young or old.

Guttenberg, N. J.—"My daughter was all run down and had fainting spells often, had a bad complexion, and suffered at her monthly periods. Her grandmother had been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the Change of Life, and got a bottle of it for her. She began to improve with the first bottle and took five in all and was entirely restored to health. For a time she had not been able to attend school, but she does now. She recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to her friends and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. CATHERINE MCGLOVE, 294 24th St., Guttenberg, N. J.

Roxbury, Mass.—"My daughter is a schoolgirl and she suffered very much with irregular periods, painful cramps and dizzy headaches. She was sometimes as long as three months between her periods and when they came she was not able to do her school home lessons because she could not even sit up. A copy of one of your little books was left in my letter-box and she began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her troubles. She is now in good health, is regular and can help me with the housework when not in school."—Mrs. VICTORIA H. SPIESSERT, 74 Bragdon St., Roxbury, Mass.

Lowell Man Was Missing
Since February—Funeral
This Afternoon

The body of the man taken from the Merrimack river yesterday was this morning identified at the morgue of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons in Market street as that of Andrew J. Thompson of 28 B street, who had been missing since last February. The identification was established by the wife of deceased through the clothing and articles found in the pockets. Mr. Thompson was a shoe worker by trade, but had not worked for a long time, his last employment having been at the L. H. Spaulding shoe company. He disappeared from his home last February and at that time the police were notified, but their efforts to locate him proved fruitless. Deceased was 33 years of age and is survived by his wife, two sons, three daughters and four grandchildren. The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons and burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where services were conducted at the grave by Rev. S. Matthews, pastor of the Barnham Street P. M. church.

Hub Men Beaten

Gulford and Tolley began their match, and a large crowd followed the players as they went from hole to hole. The first hole was halved, each player having a four. Tolley won the second in four, Gulford being too strong with his approach, and missing a two-yard putt for a half. Gulford drove two shots out of bounds at the third, and his third shot from the tee was in a ditch. He was also short on the green, Tolley winning the hole easily on his fourth shot.

Gulford holed a four-yard putt for a win on the fourth hole, leaving Tolley one up at that point. In playing the fifth hole, Gulford pulled his tee shot into the water, but made a good recovery, while Tolley played an indifferent second shot and flubbed his third badly. As a result, Gulford squared the match by winning the hole 5 to 3.

Tolley was short with his approach to the sixth, while Gulford was nicely on the green in two. He won the hole 4 to 3, and became 1 up. Gulford was a long way to the right of the green at the short seventh with his tee shot, and Tolley was on the green from the tee. Gulford played a weak second and was still short of the green, and Tolley, playing the hole perfectly, won it, 2 to 4, and squared the match.

At the eighth Tolley ran down a long putt to win the hole with a four against a five for Gulford, who putted weakly, requiring three strokes on the green. This made Tolley one up, but at the ninth the American ran down a seven yard putt for a three and the players made the turn in square.

Gulford throughout was getting great length from the tee, invariably outdriving the British champion by yards.

The 10th hole was halved in four, but Gulford became one up at the 11th, where Tolley took three putts. It was a fine, close struggle, and the excitement was intense. The match, in fact, seemed likely to rank as one of the most memorable matches of the many notable contests featuring the amateur championship.

Going to the 12th, Gulford pulled his tee shot and found his ball in a hole from which he had to lift it and lose a stroke. Tolley played the hole perfectly and won it, 4 to 5, the match becoming all squares. The 13th was halved in three and the 14th in five and with four holes to play, the match was still all square.

At the 15th, Tolley holed an eight putt, which made him one up. At the 16th, he startled Gulford and became dormie two. The 17th was fought but Tolley holed a two yard putt for his half in four and won by two up and one to play.

The largest gallery which had witnessed any one match to date gathered at the 17th green and saw Gulford attempt to the title holder. The Bostonian had outdistanced the champion repeatedly in their driving duel, but he often hooked his shots, getting off the line and encountering bad lies.

After Run-Runners

case is predicted on or before Friday. One of the vice squad officers who participated in the wild ride which terminated in the escape of the liquor smugglers said this morning that two arrests, as had been formerly reported, were not contemplated, and that one individual could probably "stand for the whole of it."

"We went around corners on two wheels" was the way this officer pictured the midnight pursuit, and he added that at times, the police car was hitting it up at a speed of 50 miles an hour. The entire liquor and vice squads were the occupants of the police limousine, a Buick touring car, which kept hot on the tail of the big Packard machine from Chelmsford Center to Willow street, where the "run" was lost. It was a "secret" literally as well as figuratively, as several bottles of Canadian club whiskey were hurled from the fugitive automobile in a vain effort to puncture the tires of the machine, which relentlessly followed, and from which Officer Conney, Moore, Kivlan, O'Sullivan, Winn and Patrick H. Clark discharged the contents of their revolvers at the fleeing run-runners.

voted today will be paid out of the general treasury.

The meeting was called at 10:10 by Mayor Thompson and Commissioners Mitchell and Donnelly present.

Thomas J. Murphy, appearing for William H. Burford, a member of the fire department who has asked to be pensioned, said that the city should either grant Mr. Burford a pension or keep him on the payroll as a fireman. He has not received any wages for several months following an injury sustained in the performance of duty. Mr. Murphy said, and he has a family to support.

It was decided to postpone action for another week.

A communication from the local union of the International Brotherhood of Telephone Workers, protesting against contract labor for city work, was read and filed. Lull & Harford were granted a license to sell and store firearms. The initiation of the local post of the American Legion to members of the council, asking them to review the legionaries in the Memorial day parade, was accepted.

Commissioner Murphy proposed a vote authorizing the purchasing agent to enter into a contract with the Standard Oil Co. for 50,000 gallons of asphalt binder to be charged to the macadam appropriation and with the Warren Foundry & Machine Co. for cast iron pipe for the water department.

An order was adopted to pay the court award of $13,375 granted owners of property in Merrimack and Market streets, seized by the city several years ago in extending Dummer street. Inasmuch as there are not sufficient funds available in the claims appropriation, the money will be paid from the general treasury fund.

It was then voted to pay $525.70 to G. C. and W. P. Dempsey or Patrick Keyes, or James J. Kerwin, their attorney, for property taken in connection with the extension and to pay $1455.50 to Margaret W. Merrill, or W. A. Hogan, her attorney, for property taken at the same time. These sums represent the amounts awarded by the court minus interest and money already paid.

The petition of Lucien Combs for a garage and gasoline license at 14 Race street was referred to Commissioner Salmon.

An order was adopted to allow the Lowell Electric Light Corp. to lay manholes and service pipes in Market street.

Charles Stickney submitted a communication, the third of a series, relative to the widening of the sidewalk at Westford and Hastings streets. It was filed.

VICTIMS OF AUTO CRASH

Commissioner Salmon is Out of Danger—Pelletier Undergoes Operation

Continued improvement in the condition of Commissioner John F. Salmon was reported at St. John's hospital this afternoon. The commissioner is rallying most encouragingly from the injuries sustained in the recent automobile accident in Wamselt.

Arthur Pelletier, another of the victims of the accident, underwent an operation for his eye at the hospital this morning and at noon it was reported that the operation had been successful and that the young man will not lose the eye, as it had been rumored. Mr. Pelletier is reported as resting comfortably.

Mrs. Wilfred C. Conner, wife of the young man who lost his life in the crash, and who is suffering from a fractured leg and a fracture of the collar bone, is also reported as doing well, while Miss Corinne Perreault, who was badly shaken up but not badly injured, will be able to leave the hospital within a day or two.

United States Navy Recruiting Signs Ordered Removed From Telephone Poles

If signs designated to stimulate recruiting in the United States navy are not removed from poles of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company here, within the next week, J. J. Mahoney, district plant chief of the concern, will remove them and send a "proper bill" to the government. This announcement was made in a letter received by Chief Gunner's Mate J. McDowell, of the navy recruiting staff in Lowell.

Mr. Mahoney, in a letter dated May 23, and addressed to Chief McDowell at the temporary navy headquarters at the main postoffice, writes: "Dear Sir:—There has been only 144 signs on our poles without reference to paper signs advertising men wanted for the United States navy. These signs were placed on our poles along the Lawrence boulevard.

"A short time ago I spoke either to you or to one of your men at the transfer station in Lowell asking you where you obtained permission to place these signs knowing no permission of this kind was granted or asked for by me. I asked you verbally if you would remove the signs and you stated that you would.

"As you know such signs as these are unsightly and in a short time the paper is torn off and it is necessary for us to have the poles and signs removed within the next week, and if they are not removed within that time, I will remove them in the manner mentioned above and send a proper bill to the government.

"I suppose you know that it is against a local ordinance to place these signs on our poles and also that there is a stencil on each pole saying 'Post No Bills.'

"Awaiting your further definite action, I am
Yours respectfully,
J. J. Mahoney.

"District Plant Chief."

Chief McDowell made public this communication today, and stated that the local navy recruiting force would remove the signs "in due time." He added that approximately 500 signs have been posted at various points in this locality, and that he estimates that not more than ten of these were affixed to poles belonging to the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph company. No other complaints from any source have been received relative to the posting of the recruiting signs, he declares.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

Hoover Makes Known His Program for Relieving House Shortage

By H. B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, May 24.—Herbert Hoover sets many ways in which government assistance and co-operation can stimulate a renewal of building activity to relieve the housing shortage and high rents situation.

"The appalling anomaly of millions of idle men, co-existent with suffering as never before from under-housing, is obvious to everybody," says the secretary of commerce.

"Among the obstacles in the path of resumption of home building on the large scale needed are high prices of building materials, transportation and labor; the reduced income in many occupations, the consequent restriction of trade; the restrictions on effort through the rules of organized labor, strikes, federal taxation and the wastes in the industry.

"The services the government can properly perform must be entirely indirect, for the government cannot enter into the fixing of prices or the determination of wages.

"The particular direction in which it is the purpose of the department of commerce to exert itself is in the reduction of waste and the increase of stability in operations in the industry.

"The intermittent operation of the building industry is where the greatest waste finds its roots and is the largest element of high costs.

"I believe the average employment of labor in the building industry is not over 65 per cent. of the possible. One reason for the constant drive for higher hourly wages is to maintain an adequate annual income and to offset the loss due to intermittent occupation. Labor itself, however, has contributed to intermittency by its rules.

"Our equipment capacity for production of building materials is probably 30 per cent. higher than is necessary. If we could secure nearly an average demand. For instance, our lumber mills have a capacity of 50,000,000,000 to 60,000,000,000 board feet. Yet the annual production is but from 32,000,000,000 to 40,000,000,000 board feet.

"The annual capacity of our cement mills is above 120,000,000 barrels, but the annual production is only 10,000,000 to 100,000,000 barrels.

"The annual capacity of our brick plants is about 5,000,000,000 bricks, but the annual production only from 3,500,000,000 to 4,000,000,000.

"There are periods when the production of building material is actually suspended.

"The intermittencies fall into three general classes: First, seasonal and weather interruptions; second, strikes and jurisdictional quarrels; third, inability of transportation to meet the peak load.

"The seasonal and weather problems are to a great degree insurmountable. But there could be local community action in establishing a definite repair season out of conflict with the season of new building.

"The last time for general strikes could be reduced by local adjustment boards. The recent declaration by organized labor of a plan to establish adjustment boards in various communities is a step in the right direction.

"Jurisdictional strikes have no justification, yet I am informed that of the time lost due to all strikes in the building trades over one-half arises from this quarter. The abolition of such strikes lies entirely within the powers of organized labor. Settlement boards of their own would be a contribution to labor's own income and employment.

"Labor could also greatly assist in lifting us from this blockade on building if it would set its face against any restraint on effort that still survives in some trades.

"We also need standardization and simplification in many materials. From 10 to 20 per cent. of the cost of building lies in the lack of standards in a broad sense.

"We have, for instance, some 250-odd building codes to which a large part of the country must conform. They vary flagrantly; they hold back progress in methods of construction and make impossible standardization."

MADAME CURIE WINS THROUGH CURIOSITY

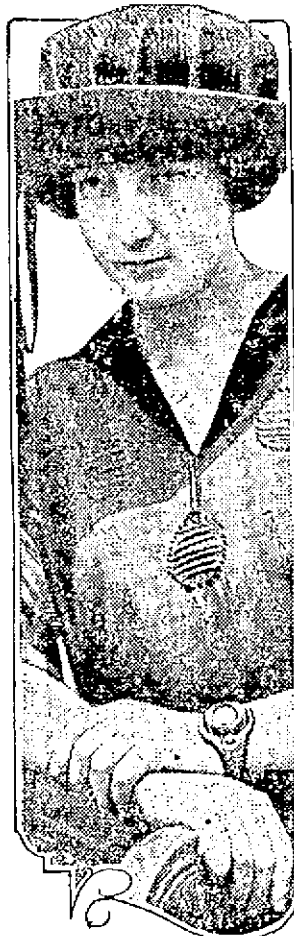

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, May 24.—"My mother said to me, 'Do American children really trade first teeth for dead cats?'"

"Mon Dieu!" I cried, "what is it?"

Irene Curie threw back her head and laughed.

"And what do you suppose she answered? 'I've been reading 'Tom Sawyer' and I want to know if the typical American child is wicked.' Mother is so curious."

There Irene Curie struck the key-

But the mother has more appreciation of science than of humor. Irene Curie is her mother's second self—a student working for her degree, pursuing independent researches, aiding her mother in her laboratory.

The other daughter, Eve, visiting America with them, is quite different. "Eve is giddy," says the simple, son-of-a-brother Irene. "But of that mother and I are glad. Eve is unthinking and unscientific. It is to protect people like Eve that people like mother and I must work in laboratories."

"But Eve is the light of our lives. Why should anyone want her to make tests all day instead of dancing? You

LOWELL WOMEN WILL DECIDE

If the initiative is to be invoked as proposed on two very important questions, the women of Lowell will have an equal vote with the men in the decision. They have an equal right even in signing the petitions in circulation, provided they are registered.

This will be the first instance in which women will have an opportunity to assist in deciding two great questions of policy for the city of Lowell— one is to whether black paving shall be done by contract, provided Lowell labor be employed; and the other is to whether the city is ready to establish a municipal gas plant or to take over the works of the Lowell Gas Light company for a reasonable price and run the system for the benefit of the city.

Our women voters will understand that the initiative is a provision of the city charter under which the people can undertake to compel the municipal council to carry out the popular will. First, the petition must bear the signatures of at least 25 per cent. of the aggregate number of votes cast for mayor at the last annual city election, requesting the city council to pass the measure therein set forth.

After the petition, duly signed, is submitted, the municipal council must do one of two things. First, within twenty days, either pass the measure as described in the petition, or forthwith after the expiration of twenty days, call a special election at which the matter may be decided by a popular vote. But if the annual city election should be held within ninety days thereafter, the question would be deferred until that date.

In the present instance, the city election is sufficiently far ahead to allow the calling of a special election; and that, it seems, will be the course if the petitions be submitted as expected. One special election would serve for both petitions. But it is hoped that for the good of the city both controversies will be settled and thus save the city the expense of holding a special election. We are to have a special election in October to pass upon the new charter and that should be enough for one year. If, however, one initiative petition be filed with the city clerk bearing the required number of signatures, and if the municipal council fails to grant the petition within the time specified, then under the law the city has no other alternative.

As to the merits of the questions involved, the women voters may be divided as are the men. Very few will deny that no obstacle should be thrown in the way of having asphalt-paving laid as economically as possible. We want the best paving possible for a price as low as that for which it is done in any New England city. To get that, it may be necessary to have the work done by contract. That the city council shall have it so done is the purpose of the charter of commerce petition. Should that be so ordained by the municipal council, the mandate would carry only till the incoming of the new government next year, assuming, of course, that next year's government would be organized under the new charter.

But if the people at a special election should vote in favor of having street paving done by contract, then that vote would be binding upon the new city council and would oblige the board of public service to adopt that plan and continue it until the people at a referendum should vote to change.

In view of the lowering tax rate, which, we surmise, will this year be $30 or over, the taxpayers will not be in a mood to favor any undertaking that would not only increase the rate, but make a higher rate a certainty for a number of years. That consideration will operate strongly against the proposition to establish a municipal gas plant or to acquire that of the Lowell Gas Light company.

Even if the city were financially able to handle such a proposition, the expediency of such a step would be exceedingly doubtful. Cities that have tried running municipal gas works have not had an experience that would encourage others to embark in the business. Waverly tried a municipal gas plant but was very glad to get rid of it after a period of three years.

These are the considerations underlying the initiative controversy, and on which both should be decided without resorting to special election.

The municipal council should settle one by granting the petition. The Gas company should settle the other by arbitration before the initiative proceedings be allowed to go too far. If the city council were ordered to embark in the production of municipal gas— which under the present state of the public mind is entirely possible, the situation would be positively alarming. We are not concerned over what would befall the first light company, which is able to take care of itself; but we are concerned over what would happen to Lowell as a city if compelled to purchase the Lowell Gas Light plant and assume control of the works. In this matter, it seems to us, that we are treading dangerous ground in taking any chance of having it take over the gas works.

The initiative when conservatively used, may serve a good purpose. If used judiciously, it may benefit the city in most serious and important competitions. It remains for our citizens, both male and female, to take these questions very seriously and if called upon to act, to serve the city's interests in broadest degree, and saving the taxpayers from increased burdens at a time when the tax law is already oppressive.

To appreciate this controversy and properly define the nature of Lowell's will, we have the following:

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

At a time when for two months past it has been a waiting race, it would be well for as many as possible to begin to remove the obstacles to active business. The labor unions that are trying to hold on to wartime wage scales are placed obstacles in the way of a general resumption of business. This is but one of many obstacles. The employer who wants to break up all the unions is a still greater obstacle in the path of progress. There are many others which unfortunately are beyond the power of any individual outside congress or the White House to influence in the slightest degree. They depend upon the action of congress and the president on the tariff, on taxation, on the declaration of peace, on the extension of our foreign trade, on the solution of the transportation problem at reasonable rates. If a few of these questions were solved, the industries of the country would show greater activity and everybody would be happier.

It seems that nobody can complain that the people are not now ready to buy if they get fair value for their money. The strike against buying is over; but still there is something the matter. It seems to be a strike against the tax gatherer, against high wages, against unions, against existing conditions generally. Possibly a real republican tariff will help and the republicans directed by Senator Penrose are preparing that; but then we are reminded that we have a merchant marine which must be kept busy; and if we raise a high tariff wall our vessels will not be helped.

Thus the discussion goes, and there is little prospect of a change until congress lets go its emergency tariff, lifts off the heavy war taxes and until Herbert Hoover manages to establish trade relations with foreign countries that can pay for goods if there are any such. The demoralization of the rate of foreign exchange is another obstacle which the Silesian problem has aggravated. Things were assuming an encouraging aspect in the matter of continental exchange until a serious aspect of a break between England and France loomed on the horizon. There seems to be little doubt that with this question settled, Europe will soon again become a large purchaser of our raw materials. It is probable also, that Germany will come into the market as a liberal purchaser of cotton, copper and other raw materials. The present uncertainties, however, leave everything and everybody waiting.

Here in Lowell business is better than in many other cities. The merchants are selling in many instances at less than cost in order to keep business moving. Their policy is small profits and quick returns, as by this means alone can they dispose of their stock even though it was purchased at higher prices than those for which it is now offered to the public. There is a full in the building trade that should be broken so that owners contemplating building operations may be induced to go ahead without further waiting for price reductions.

ENFORCING THE SPEED LAWS
In the city of Worcester recently, a professor of Clark university was brought into court for oversteering through a thickly settled district and for passing an intersecting street at the rate of 30 miles an hour. He was discharged with apologies from the court. The same officer had another autoist in court on a charge precisely similar. The defendant, who in this case was an ordinary individual, was fined $10.

The judge, who was responsible for such a travesty on justice, should be ashamed of himself. That is not the way to enforce the speed laws; and the ease with which some people escape even when they kill pedestrians through gross carelessness and by driving at a rate of speed clearly in violation of the law, is not calculated to impress others with respect to statutes limiting the rate of speed and requiring the exercise of care at all times.

THE DRIVES

It must be admitted that never before have we seen in this country such an outpouring of charity as has been witnessed in the various drives that came quick and fast for churches, colleges, hospitals, for the Near East, the Far East, China, Ireland, and the various others. Yet still they come! Some had hoped the Salvation Army drive would be the last, yet others are sure to follow.

Lowell, indeed, is walking on the ragged edge, with the possibility of one more alderman becoming incapacitated for service and then no municipal government. But, some people are bound to say we shouldn't be much worse off than we usually have been under the present charter.

If the accounts of the latest running battle are correct it would seem doubtful whether the Lowell cops could qualify as marksmen even with a torn door for a target.

It would be interesting to know how many times it is to be announced that the work of "constructing" the central bridge has been started before it starts.

Reckless driver—60 miles an hour—crash!!!—hospital—death—exonerated on the charge of manslaughter. Something like this seems to be becoming a normal sequence of events.

There seems to be one difficulty in the way of limitation of armaments—each leading nation wants the largest possible navy before the limiting begins.

Not quite monarch of all it surveys is the diver and his brothers when $110,000 in prizes have been offered on the New England light harness racing circuit for this summer.

Getting good men into office and a caring for a good cause seem to be about equally difficult of achievement in some cities.

One wonders whether it is an instance of "home to him as those who will not see" in the case of the cops and the near-by home joints.

Soon we must face the difficult problem of trying to demolish which we admire the more—the home bride or the sweet girl graduate.

Put not your trust in "couch funds" or eye opponents of the proposed new charter.

The initiative brings us a little nearer to the ways of the old New England town meeting.

Manacles for the sweet maniac.

Lowell's Trees

Did you ever notice that Lowell is a city of trees? You would if you viewed it from the top floor of The Sun building. Beginning a couple of blocks from Merrimack square, there is presented a vista in which green predominates. It is as though a huge wreath of verdure had been laid upon the city by some gigantic hand. Even the gaunt mills have their touch of green nearby. A tall tree relieves the wall of the high school building, and its topmost limb nearly climbs as high as the flag. The entire lower part of the city hall structure is cut off from view by the mass of greenery which springs from St. Anne's churchyard. And around all, the lines of hills, becoming ever of a lighter blue, until they almost blend with the sky. Gas tanks, chimneys, mills to the contrary notwithstanding, Lowell is a thing of beauty from the top of The Sun building. The Merrimack river, and the thick-grown heights of Forest Hill, must not be forgotten. Well did Joyce Kilmer sing:

"I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree."

"Absolutely"—Not

Einstein, says Dr. William F. Barton, has been among us, and has left the impression of a kindly personality and a strong mind. It may be true that only 13 persons in the world understand the theory in full; it may even be that he might say what Hegel is alleged to have said, "Only one man understands me, and he does not." But the fundamental theories of Einstein are not very difficult to understand. They are two.

First, all motion is relative. Secondly, the velocity of light is independent of the velocity of its source. The first we can believe as soon as we understand what it means by it. The second bewilders us, but when we know what Einstein is talking about, we have no desire to contradict him. But when we come to the application of these principles, we find ourselves in deep water. We have assented very cheerfully and without much thought to the principles, but when we begin to think for a long time. Before we are through, we are wondering whether parallel lines do not meet, and whether anything is as we thought it.

One thing we may as well learn which is that there are not so many uses as some people suppose for the word "absolutely." That was absolutely the worst thing any man ever said. That said was absolutely the worst any man ever tried to drive a Ford car over. "Strawberry ice cream is absolutely the nicest thing." "Absolutely" is a word to be used only three or four times in a life time. Herbert Spencer asked whether the captain of a vessel, walking westward on the deck of his ship sailing east, and walking just as fast as the ship is sailing, let us say four miles an hour, is really moving. He is moving with the earth on its axis at the rate of a thousand miles an hour; he is moving around the sun at the rate of 70,000 miles an hour; and no one knows how much faster he is moving with the solar system. And he is moving with slow currents and tidal movements of the ocean. We know of few things that are stationary, and we have infrequent use for the word "absolutely."

Prelude

Words, words.
Ye are like birds.
I would I might tell you
In my heart's desire
Till ye were warm and your feather
a-butter.
Till, in your throats,
The words were
Foretold the songs ye would utter.

Words, words.
Ye are all birds!
Would ye might linger
Here on my finger.
Till I kissed each, and then sent you
a-winging
wild, perfect flight.
Through morn to night,
Singing, singing and singing!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Miss Lily Meagher, who sang Sunday afternoon in the Boston Opera House with John McCormack, was applauded by many Lowell people who visited the neighboring city to attend the concert held for the benefit of the Irish relief fund. Miss Meagher has sung in this city on two occasions, and made many friends and admirers. Among her selections Sunday were "Danny Boy," "Kitty of Coleraine" and other famous ballads of Erin. She was charmingly gowned in a frock of pale blue silk, with hat to match. She sang two groups of songs, one of them all Irish melodies. She was the guest of Miss Katharine Earhart, daughter of Judge Thomas J. Earhart of the Lowell police court, at the latter's father's street home until this morning. Today she left for New York, where she will join Mr. McCormack for a continuation of their eastern tour. Mr. McCormack left for the metropolis Sunday afternoon immediately after the concert. He will sing with Miss Meagher in New York and Chicago.

You've seen Bill Henderson in the movies. It develops that these super-burnt gentlemen, when they aren't posing with their spears and straw skirts before movie cameras, work in the sugar cane fields. Also, they have labor unions, and they demand three dollars per day of six hours. Five dollars per day, with Saturday and Sunday as clear holidays. Half pay in case of sickness. Employers to provide each native worker free with two room, cottage, table, two chairs, bed, water, screen, bathroom and laundry free medical attendance. Free use of land for a garden, and one horse, one bull and four cows to be provided free. The employers are staggered at the demands, says a news report. Many an American employer will sympathize for the Fiji Islands employer who has a head-bunter picketing the front door. Gope is another illusion. leg-ironed his tropical slaves and flayed them with the dried rasp-like skin of a snark fish. It doesn't read that way in the story books or the movies, but the far corners of the earth are fast adopting the starched mode of life practiced in Lowell.

Sunday brought many boys to the river and the old swimming holes. This is the inevitable result when a warm spell comes before the bath-house opens. The young lads even before they learn to swim take chances of getting drowned by following those who can swim. into the water. As a result, many of them are in danger. They had better wait until the bath-house opens than take dangerous chances in rivers, ponds or canals. The parks were well patronized on Sunday. The zoo proved a great attraction to Fort Hill park and the children enjoyed seeing the young bear playing in its little enclosure. They would like to get closer to it, even to fondle it as they would a pet dog, but that cannot be allowed. I do not believe that any of the children wanted to be linked to any of the animals. They admire them all and they would be very grateful to Supp. Kernan if he would allow them to get an occasional ride on the little pony. There is no arrangement as yet to afford the children this pleasure, although if pony is willing, something in this line might be done on special occasions.

Professor Budlong Puts Tanlac to Test

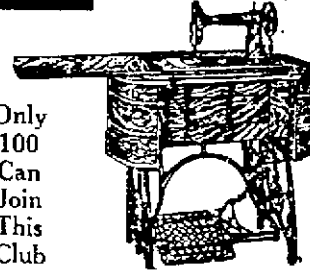

PROF. C. J. BUDLONG, Manchester, N. H.

"It's an actual fact, I'm in good health for the first time in 35 years and I owe my present splendid condition to Tanlac and nothing else," was the emphatic statement of Prof. C. J. Budlong, well known and highly respected citizen of Manchester, N. H., residing at 42 School street. "Practically all my life I had had rheumatism, and when I say rheumatism I mean every word of it. It was all over my body and especially bad in my feet and legs and there were times when I couldn't get from my bed to my chair without help. And from the time I was a boy I couldn't sit down and eat a good meal without being in misery afterwards and I would have terrible pains around my heart and frequent attacks of palpitation and dizziness. "I had a stubborn case of constipation, was troubled awfully with blinding headaches and hardly knew what sleep was. My suffering had almost made a complete nervous wreck of me and I was so weak I wasn't worth a nickel as far as work was concerned. I thought my troubles had a life-long grip on me and was about as discouraged as a man ever gets. "Well, before I had finished my first bottle of Tanlac I realized it was different from anything I ever tried. It suited my case exactly. And now for almost the first time since I can remember I can eat anything I want and digest it. I haven't an ache or a pain and have gained 15 pounds in weight. I just feel good all over and am full of life and energy these days. Everywhere I go I talk Tanlac. It hasn't an equal. "Tanalac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Bitterica, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggist in every town. —Adv.

Johnny Kilbane Compares The Old and New Pugs

BY JOHNNY KILBANE
Featherweight Champion

The question often has been asked whether present day fighters of the type of Jack Dempsey or Georges Carpentier, who clash July 2 for the heavyweight championship, could stand up under the old-time finish fights of half a hundred rounds or more.

Take the great John L. Sullivan's win over Jake Kilrain in 75 rounds, back in 1879, for example, or the 61-round draw that Jim Corbett fought with Peter Jackson in 1891 at Frisco.

Either Dempsey or Carpentier could go that route today—but fans would be treated to an altogether different style of fighting from that they will see at Jersey. And it would prove far less interesting.

Battle With Caution

When a fighter goes into a finish fight, he battles with extreme caution. Not a surplus step is taken; not a blow is wasted. He conserves all his energy for the grueling rounds that are to come later.

In a short fight, such as that scheduled for Dempsey and Carpenter, both men were in and fought from the time the bell rings, knowing that there will be at most only 20 minutes of actual fighting and that they need save no more than enough stamina to carry them over that comparatively short time.

Coasters Get Edge

The inclination of a boxer to save steam by the wind-up of his fight is shown by the experience of eastern boxers on the Pacific coast. In and around San Francisco fights usually are scheduled for only four rounds. Eastern fighters, used to fighting 12 or 15 rounds, step into the ring and start off slowly, from force of habit.

Coast boxers, familiar with the four-round bouts, are off like chain lightning with the bell. And they keep their fists flying continuously, with the result that they often have the bout won on points before the stranger on the coast wakes up to the fact.

Decided Difference

A short fight means hammer and stings; a long fight means a long and measured study.

That's why I say that, taking into consideration even the different fighting style of Dempsey and Carpenter, the Jersey battle, from the fans' viewpoint, will be a better and livelier one than were the long-drawn-out battles of by-gone days.

WINCHESTER JUNIOR RIFLE CORPS SHOOT

With a possible 75, David Browning, a local lad, was declared the victor in the annual shoot of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps, held last evening in Y.M.C.A. hall. Twenty-four chosen boys, the leaders in marksmanship from 12 units, competed. The judges were: Lieut. Edward B. Daly, E. H. Anderson and Woodbury K. Howe. The range was in charge of George E. Allan, while T. R. Williams was clerk.

Young Browning was presented with a silver loving cup by Woodbury K. Howe, the donor, while Lieut. Daly announced that he would offer another loving cup to the boy who proves most proficient in offhand shooting in a contest to be held during the latter part of September. The complete tally was as follows:

Kenneth Allan, North St. Baptist unit, 68
Fred Crowley, Y employed boys, 68

Britons Tune Up for Invasion of United States

Duncan and Mitchell, Golfers, Will Play for Open Title

BY DEAN SNYDER

George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, English golf stars, are practicing their swing preparatory to invading America.

They'll try to duplicate the tour of Ted Ray and Harry Vardon last summer.

Vardon and Ray played in 65 matches of which they won 50, lost 13 and tied three.

The visiting Britons traveled more than 10,000 miles and played 25,000 holes of golf. When they sailed home on Nov. 6 they took with them nearly $50,000 as their earnings for their exhibition tour.

Ray took along the American national open golf title, too.

The tour of Duncan and Mitchell has been similarly planned.

In an atmosphere a bit chilly for best baseball results, the Centralvilles defeated the C.M.A.C. 9 to 3, on the South common last evening in the twilight league series. The game was a playoff of a previously scheduled contest which was postponed owing to unfavorable weather.

Despite the cold, there was a big crowd on hand and the fans enjoyed the evening's fun to the limit. It was a see-saw game with the pitchers in a more or less unsteady condition, owing to the chill in the air. First one team got the lead and then the other.

Georges Is Introduced to Strenuous American Wallops

(Carpentier cops the heavyweight title of France, and takes a good lacing from Joe Jeannette, in the next story.)

By HAL COCHRAN

Georges Carpentier has come to the United States from France to fight Jack Dempsey for the heavy weight title less known than any higher who ever went into a world championship fight. Hal Cochran, in this story of Carpentier's life, written for The Sun, tells of the struggles of the one-time mine pit boy in rising to the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

CHAPTER 4

Georges Carpentier, with a long string of victories over English fighters, had not yet clashed with an American opponent up to the early part of 1915.

Frank Loughrey of Pittsburgh at this time was creating quite a stir across the pond, and Georges was signed to battle him in Paris. The bout went the full 15 rounds but Carpentier had all the best of it.

Success had been so kind to Georges in bouts with his countrymen that but one fighter stood between him and the welterweight championship of France. This fighter, Robert Eustache, had cleaned up all of the lightweight scrappers, and the welter crown rested on his head.

Wins Championship

The scrap was arranged and Carpentier won a decision and the championship in 16 rounds.

Through all the training for his many fights, Mme. Vanhille, Carpentier's mother-in-law, had been Carpentier's guardian angel. She watched over him and always in Georges' young days saw that he had a good "red" was not bothered by the young girls.

"I do not blame the girls," she says. "Gentles is so handsome, clever and famous. But I scare them off."

Shortly after coping the welter crown Georges licked two more English batters, Jack Goldsmith, in four rounds, and Arthur Everett, in five rounds, and was then matched with Dixie Kid, an American negro fighter.

Klaus Wins on Front

The first, Frank Klaus, Pittsburgh "Bearcat," gave the little Frenchman a terrible mauling. Georges also slipped in some telling punches and when Klaus was declared winner on a foul, in the 13th round, both battlers were in a bad way.

The second, Billy Papke, had trimmed Marcel Moreau, Carpentier's main French rival, and Georges challenged him. The Yankee slipped over a wicked punch to Carpentier's left eye in the 17th round, and Manager Descamps withdrew Georges from the battle, giving Papke the decision.

Still, putting on weight, Georges slipped into the light heavyweight division and was next matched with Dixie Kid, an American negro fighter.

TO GIVE DEMPSEY A WEEK OF REST CARPENTIER RELIES ON SPEED AND CUNNING

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 24.—Dempsey has progressed so rapidly in his training for his match with Carpentier July 2, that Manager Jack Kearns contemplates giving the champion a week of absolute rest, probably the first week of his career. In accordance with the training campaign Dempsey followed for his battle with Jess Willard at Toledo, two years ago, when he suspended all training activities for six days because of the fear of going stale.

With Dempsey rapidly getting into condition, the shortage of heavyweights sparring partners in the championship camp at present is causing Manager Kearns no alarm. Leo Hickey, who directed to quit after Jack Clifford left the camp, has been persuaded to remain another week.

Jack Renault, heavyweight, will return to camp today along with Frankie Britton, light heavyweight from Philadelphia.

Hickey was given a rest yesterday to recuperate from the punishing effects of his workouts with the champion.

Dempsey intends to box daily with Babe Herman, the Sacramento, Cal., featherweight, and Alex. Traub, a welterweight from Portland, Ore., to increase his speed. Herman gave the champion a slashing third round work-out yesterday, hitting him to extend himself. Herman is one of the fastest boxers in his class and Dempsey figures that the Pacific coast featherweight will give just the right edge to his boxing.

Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general of the United States, is expected to visit the champion's training camp this afternoon. He intended to do so yesterday, but was prevented by illness in his family.

but when darkness brought a halt to play, the Centralville bats nosed out their opponents by a run.

Manager Foy's men got a couple in the first and second innings, but walked away, but the Pawtucket street boys got their swatsticks warmed up in the second and when the damage was scored, before the twilight had been tapped across the counting station. Immediately a great majority of the fans became converts to the C.M.A.C. cause but those who remained faithful to the Centralville outfit did not receive reward when the over-river swatters got one in the third, four in the fourth and two in the sixth. The C.M.A.C. got another in the fourth but the Centralville were not headed after their big innings.

Cronin started the game for the Centralville but the C.M.A.C. bats sent him to the bench when they began their second inning onslaught. Manning, who took his place, did better work. Cronin started for the C.M.A.C. but didn't measure up and Cronin finished the game. The seventh inning was started and the C.M.A.C. had scored the run necessary to tie the score, but before the twilight could be played, darkness came on and the score reverted to even innings.

HARDING INVITED TO DEMP-CARP. FIGHT

BY E. M. THIERRY

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 24.—Reformers are wasting their time trying to make Gov. Edwards stop the Dempsey-Carpenter fight July 2.

"They might as well save their breath," Gov. Edwards told me when I asked him what he was going to do about protests by churchmen and other organizations.

The governor sat in his office in the Jersey City First National bank and calmly made it very plain that the fight is going to take place no matter how many protests he receives; that he himself is going to attend it; and that he has invited President Harding and members of the cabinet to be his guests at the fight.

"I didn't read those protests against the Dempsey-Carpenter fight," said the governor. "Life's too short."

He referred to official protests sent him by the Reformed Church Synod of New Jersey, the Clergyman's Committee of the New York and the Canadian Ministerial Union.

The governor said he read with amusement the distributive of the fight is going to take place no matter how many protests he receives; that he himself is going to attend it; and that he has invited President Harding and members of the cabinet to be his guests at the fight.

"I didn't read those protests against the Dempsey-Carpenter fight," said the governor. "Life's too short."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KETTER'S THEATRE

There isn't a poor spot in the entire bill being presented at B. F. Ketter's theatre this week. It is one of the most vaudeville lovers have had the pleasure to witness in some time.

Margaret Young, who is billed as "The Girl Who Sings," heads the week's entertainers in a most delightful program of character numbers. Margaret's comedy act is a most engaging and original one, and her characterizations with ease, she readily won over yesterday's audience and is sure of a warm reception for the rest of the week.

Miss Young confines herself to songs that bring out some trait or peculiarity of a particular type. Her first number was a song about a girl who is going to take place no matter how many protests he receives; that he himself is going to attend it; and that he has invited President Harding and members of the cabinet to be his guests at the fight.

to become one of America's favorites of the first rank, because she displays what America admires, namely, genius of a high order. Her portrayal of the character of a French milliner who, by dint of her wilful capriciousness and ingratiating manner, becomes the ruler of a king, is one of the outstanding histrionic achievements in the annals of the screen. It is doubtful if any other artist could have matched her sterling performance before the camera in this particular. The actress who played her acting at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon, seemed a unit in enthusiasm over her and it is certain that if she had been present in person she would have been vociferously acclaimed. "Passion" is a super drama in all that the term implies. It is totally devoid of the commonplace and maintains a suspense and interest which frequently amounts to a veritable thrill. It can be truthfully described as stupendous. The story has to do with a reign of terror which entails a great nation as a result of the king losing his sense of political proportions, because of his being enamored of a girl from the masses. He makes her his favorite before the eyes of his courtiers and permits her to assume full sway over the destinies of the nation. The king, who is the cause of the fall of this on his part, which leads to his death, she becomes the most hated person in the whole country and finally the direct cause for the whole populace of the country rising in revolt. Then, when she is almost in need of powerful aid to combat the numerous forces working against her, the king dies and she is shown of all her power. A frail, helpless woman pitted against the angry onslaughts of millions of excited masses, a most pathetic appearance and despite her errors and transgressions of the past, one is led to sympathize with her, for after all she is treated unmercifully. Of the huge mob into whose hands she falls. One of the appealing features of the tremendous story is the underlying personality of the heroine, the present who loved her in the days when she was only a simple little milliner. At the very last moment she is saved from the savage fury of the swirling mobs and she loses his own life in the attempt. The story follows the life of the French court with careful detail and events should prove of the glory and riches that surrounded the throne of Louis XV.

Accompanying the big picture at the Rialto for the first three days of the week is one of Charlie Chaplin's best comedies, "Easy Street." In the scenes, the well known comedian takes the part of the police officer who attempts to turn a tough neighborhood into a haven of peace and happiness, and succeeds after miraculous escapes and extreme good fortune. The other attractions of the Rialto are well up to the usual standard.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Two photoplays of more than average merit are being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre. The first half of the week and if the reception accorded them at yesterday's performance may be taken as a criterion, the productions should prove most popular during their engagement here. The features are "Sentimental Tommy," adapted from Sir James M. Barrie's noted story, and "Sacred and Profane Love," starring Elsie Ferguson.

A picture for young and old alike is a description that may be given of "Sentimental Tommy." It is doubtful if there are many grown-up people who haven't a fond memory of the story and most youngsters have read of "Tommy" at one time or another. The story begins with Tommy's entrance with his sister, Elsie, to the Scotch village of Thrums and his rescue of Grizel from a crowd of youngsters who are throwing stones at her. It gives many episodes showing Tommy's flights of imagination which are humorous and wholesome.

Good old Lakewood, looking very much new, will open for the season Thursday night. It has been much improved. New buildings have been put up, and many amusement novelties have been added, and in fact, nothing has been left undone to make Lakewood one of the very fine summer resorts of New England. The dance hall, projecting to the water's edge, is second to none in the east. It has a surface of 6200 square feet and into that surface has gone the finest lumber. Minner Doyle's orchestra of 10 pieces will play for dancing, and also will give special programs under the direction of Professor Agnew, a feature bound to please the thousands making Lakewood their objective daily. The fare to Lakewood is now 10 cents. wholesome, healthful recreation, Lakewood makes strong appeal. Lakewood is under the personal direction of Harry C. Kirtledge, who recently bought the entire property from the Eastern Massachusetts street railway.

HARDING FOR SOUND BUSINESS

President Outlines Administration's Purpose in New York Address

Determined to Place Federal Government on Sound Business Basis

Even at Cost of Offending "A Certain Class of Politicians"

NEW YORK, May 23.—The administration's purpose to place the federal government on a sound business basis, even at the cost of offending "a certain class of politicians" was reaffirmed by President Harding today in an address at a luncheon of the Academy of Political Science.

The task, he declared, would require "persistent, determined, story-heated devotion to the public interest," without a trace of sympathy for the office-holder whose only excuse for drawing a salary, is that he needs the money. Loss of a certain sort of prestige to the administration, the president said, was certain to result, though it might be compensated in the long run by a realization of the good accomplished for the general public.

Recapitulating the work already done by the reorganization commission created by congress and by executive orders of the administration, the president said considerable progress was promised for the immediate future. He predicted that the reorganization task would be a long one, however, and asked for the co-operation and support of citizens everywhere and invited suggestions as to ways and means.

Text of Address

The address follows in part:

"Everywhere we turn, we note that government has in recent time assumed a most complex relationship to the public than it ever sustained before. The mobilization of man power, industrial forces and financial resources, which was made necessary in the war's exigencies, could only have been accomplished through the exertion of the utmost powers of government. These powers were exerted to the extreme limit, and accordingly important results were attained. As a result of that demonstration of government's capacity to force great results in emergencies, there has grown up a school of thought which assumes that even in time of peace the same authoritative might will be exercised in the general interest. Many men thoughtlessly urge that governments look over the control, even the conduct, of many industries and facilities during the war; there followed a great increase in wages, a vast expansion of business activity; therefore why not assume that continuance of such control and management in time of peace would enable continuance of the same liberality in compensation and profits, the same intense business activity?"

"Those who look below the surface know that the things which governments accomplished during the war were accomplished at a staggering cost, a cost which society could not bear for long; a cost that has left society burdened with debts which mortgage generations of the future. They know that the feverish seeming of prosperity was not genuine, but was possible only because society was literally burning up its stocks of capital, and that this destruction of capital was responsible for the reaction and depression which are now felt universally. In this process the burdens of government were immensely increased, and it is for us now to find means of lightening these burdens."

"To bring economy and efficiency into government is a task second to none in difficulty. Few people in or out of the government have any conception of the growth of government business in the last decades before the world war; still fewer at all realize the pace to which the growth has been speeded up since the war started. The multiplication of departments, bureaus, divisions, functions has resulted in a sort of geometrical increase in the tasks which confront the heads of executive departments when they face reconstruction problems."

"Fortunately, the prospect is not so hopeless as might appear, because the present organization is so bad that the insistent application of a few established principles of sound business organization will result in immediate economies and provide a margin of available means to meet new demands. The party in power is pledged to economy and efficiency, and you may be assured that every energy is being directed to reduce that which is the last degree and with all promptness."

"Re-establishment of a budget system is the foundation on which regulation is based. It is hardly conceivable, indeed, that a proper budget system could be established and carried on for any considerable time without forcing attention to the evils and effecting the reform of many deficiencies in the present system. But the budget program will not do everything. There must still be much, and continuing effort to keep expenses down, to insure full value for every dollar of the taxpayers' money the government spends."

"Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that stern vigilance is the price of economy and efficiency. It requires persistent, determined, story-heated devotion to the public interest. There must be utter sacrifice of all sympathy for the party with a real reason for leaving his position is that he wants the salary. The man who conscientiously and intelligently does this work must not allow himself to be intimidated by the office-holders or with the threat of reprisals. Even the administration which devotes itself relentlessly to such work must understand that it will lose a great deal of immediate loyalty on the part of a certain class of politicians, which will be compensated in the long run by the cooperation of the public for the public interest, or the active concern, which will animate the person who finds himself being paid to do his duty."

"Nevertheless, the work of government is as the task will be for most of

NAVY RECORDS SMASHED

Lowell Furnishes One-Fourth Of All Recruits In New England

One-fourth of all the men accepted for the United States navy throughout New England during the past week came from Lowell!

This surprising fact was announced yesterday by Chief Gunner's Mate McDowell, of the local recruiting headquarters, located temporarily at the main postoffice. The bureau of navigation has sent out orders to all districts, limiting the number of recruits who may be accepted for service with the sea forces of Uncle Sam. New England's weekly limit is placed at sixteen. Four Lowell lads went to make up this total.

It was stated yesterday by Chief McDowell that on Friday the word was flashed to all stations and sub-stations informing the recruiting staffs that New England's quota for the week of May 15 had been secured. Lowell had already sent seven local men to the Boston headquarters for physical examination, and of this number four had passed the rigid health tests which are necessary for entrance into the service at the present time.

"This week may bring forth even more extraordinary results here, as two men are already slated to sign the final papers tomorrow. The chief petty officer in charge of the work of getting sailormen to join the United States war effort declare that Lowell possesses a bounteous supply of husky man-power, and they are out, they say, to better the city's phenomenal record as a recruiting centre."

TROUBLE IN PORTUGAL

Government Resigned "To Avoid Death of Its Members" Says Report

LONDON, May 23.—The correspondent of the Evening News at Vigo, Spain, says today that the Portuguese government resigned Saturday, "to avoid the death of its members." Those taking part in the revolution, the correspondent asserts, included most of the garrisons, companies of the republican guard, and a battery of the guards. Cavalry and infantry are protecting the presidential palace and the ministries, he declares.

DELIBERATE ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

PADUCAH, Ky., May 23.—What railroad officials said probably was a deliberate attempt to wreck a train failed today when Illinois Central flyer No. 103, Louisville to New Orleans, was derailed at Epperson, five miles from here. No one was seriously injured, although many passengers received bruises in the severe jolt.

Those who devote their efforts to it, it must and will be attacked, it is being attacked, with all determination. Something can be done, even pending the effective inauguration of the budget and the survey by the joint committee toward bettering conditions. In all the departments, I may say to you this sort of work is already progressing under executive orders within the power of the executive. We shall need the full support of enlightened public opinion, and, realizing this, I am glad that such bodies as the Academy of Political Science, the United States chamber of commerce, the engineering societies and business organizations generally are studying and discussing these questions. Out of such councils will come true appreciation of the difficulties and magnitude of government business, a larger sense of public responsibility and a highly desirable cooperation between public and private business for the common good."

Right of Attorney General Upheld

BOSTON, May 23.—The right of the attorney general or an assistant to appear before a grand jury and present evidence in criminal cases and thereafter to prosecute the case, was upheld today by the supreme court. The court overruled exceptions of John Kozlowski, convicted in the Middlesex county superior court for attempting to steal an automobile, which exceptions were based on the presence in the grand jury room of Henry F. Hurlburt, special assistant attorney general.

Detroit Priest Shoots Intruder

DETROIT, May 23.—Andrew Kulick, 37 years old, was shot by Rev. John Kovalsky, pastor of St. Cyril's Catholic church, early today, when with three other men he is alleged to have attempted to break into the rectory, in Hauranck, a suburb. Father Kovalsky was released after a statement to the prosecuting attorney. He said his objection to a certain dance hall in the vicinity of his parish had led to threats against his life. He fired at the intruders, he said, only after they had thrown flower pots through the rectory windows and shouted that they intended to kill him. At the hospital it was said Kulick might die.

Merchant Held on Charge of Extortion

BROCKTON, May 23.—On warrants sworn to by Inspector George C. Chase of the police department, Joseph T. Galligan, 70 Tilton avenue, a local merchant, was arrested at noon charged with extortion on four counts, alleged that he solicited cash from Joseph Svirsky, Peter Tiskus, Sylvester Svorika and Joseph Ekasala, all with places of business on Arthur and Ames streets, on promises, as alleged, of his influence to secure for them licenses to operate their stores under the Sunday license law. Galligan gave bail in the sum of $3000 for his appearance in court Tuesday. The police have been investigating for two weeks charges of alleged graft in Sunday licenses. The board of aldermen is the licensing authority. Galligan is not connected with the city government.

Orders Arrest of Strike Agitators

PORTLAND, Me., May 23.—Mayor Charles B. Clarke, in a letter sent by a special messenger to Chief of Police Irving S. Watts, today ordered that all shipping strike agitators be arrested or sent out of town, immediately. The mayor's letter which was vigorously worded, was prompted by the attack on the crew of the schooner Mary P. Barrett, Saturday and the murder of James Walker, a seaman.

Following the receipt of the mayor's letter, Chief Watts notified seamen at their union headquarters that he would give them 15 hours in which to get out of the city.

Chief Watts' orders were directed to all striking seamen in the city. The mayor's letter to the chief said: "This case pattern has ceased to be a virtue. In the first place this seamen's strike led to a vicious, rock-throwing episode at the Grand 'Truck docks; next to a serious case of intimidation at the Pocahontas Fuel Co., where police assistance was required, and now to a murder. The city wants no more of it. Please attend to it at once."

"Now, then," said the fairymen, sitting down on a stone and laying the coffee-mill on his knee. "Everybody hold his nose, for I'm going to grind up these pepper-corns into powder. And it's very sneezy."

When it was finished Flippy-Flap poured the whole business into a paper bag and put the coffee-mill neatly away.

"Now come along, folks," he commanded next. "The time has come for us to do something."

On he started, the Council of Creatures and the twins trooping after.

They stopped at Woolly Wart-Hog's hole first. Woolly crawled in, and Flippy-Flap sprinkled some pepper-dust on his door step.

Next came Andy Antelope, and after he'd got settled in his house, Flippy-

Flap did the same thing.

Every creature crawled into his hole, and after he'd got safely inside the fairymen sprinkled pepper around.

Then he and Nancy and Nick hit.

After while old Tag Tiger woke up hungry-as-a-tiger. He stretched and yawned and decided to hunt some dinner. So he came snooping through the jungle on his great paddy-feet as quiet as a pussy-in-the-corner.

He licked his whiskers as he went and kept rolling his sleepy-looking eyes this way and that, watchfully.

"I haven't had a dinner of gazelle for a blue moon," he muttered to himself. "Think I'll go and see if any of the family are at home." So off he trotted to the fairymen's house, where he stopped and sniffed.

"Yes," he cried joyfully. "Gazzy's at home for I smell him." Just then he gave a loud "Kerchoo!" which echoed through the jungle.

PIE CUTTER

Can you cut a pie evenly? If not, use a knife like the one shown above. It is fastened to the edge of the plate and quarters the pie at one stroke.

SISTER MARY SAYS TO USE REASON

The ice chamber of your ice box was not meant for foods. Vegetables put right on the ice prevent free circulation of cold air and rob the other parts of the refrigerator of adequate refrigeration.

The section directly under the ice chamber is the coldest part of the ice box. Cold air settles, forcing warm air up. Milk and butter and any foods that need to be kept specially cold should be stored in this part of the refrigerator.

Menu For Tomorrow

Breakfast—Grapefruit, buttered eggs on toast, coffee.

Luncheon—Potato soup, toasted crackers, butter scotch pie, tea.

Dinner—Mutton broth, fish croquettes, radishes, hot rolls, asparagus soufflé, strawberries, sponge cake, coffee.

My Own Recipes

After boiling the mutton until the meat drops from the bones strain broth. Then add barley to broth and boil for an hour. The barley should be blanched and parboiled before adding to the broth.

Buttered Eggs on Toast

Four eggs, 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, buttered toast.

Melt butter, but do not let bubble. Beat eggs slightly with salt and pepper. Pour into steupan containing melted butter and stir briskly until thick. Pour over toast and serve.

Butter Scotch Pie

One cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, baked pie shell.

Mix sugar, boiling water and butter. When boiling add the flour mixed with the yolk of egg and milk. Stir until thick. Pour into shell and cover with white of egg beaten until stiff and dry with 2 tablespoons of sugar.

UNIQUE TOMB AND CHAPEL

Magr. O'Brien Having Receiving Tomb Built at St. Patrick's Cemetery

Caskets Lowered Through Chapel Floor and Conveyed to Tomb

Under the direction of Magr. William O'Brien, Mr. John Meagher, son of Supt. Meagher of St. Patrick's cemetery, has drawn plans for a chapel and a receiving tomb to be constructed in the Catholic cemetery at the end of St. Patrick's avenue. When completed, this will be one of the most up-to-date receiving tombs to be found in any part of New England. The chapel will be 35 by 25 feet in the interior and will have an opening in the floor through which the caskets can be lowered to a concrete channel leading to the receiving tomb. The tomb is already well advanced towards completion. The walls are of stone the floor of concrete, and the roof of re-enforced concrete, every part of it being absolutely water-tight. It will have a capacity for holding 200 caskets, resting on steel racks and arranged in order so that there will be no difficulty in removing any that may be called for as relatives may require. The chapel for which the foundation is now being built will be finished in plaster and cobblestone with granite trimmings. It is of Gothic design with a turret and cross. The floor will be of terrazzo and there will be three windows of ornamental leaded glass on either side. The chapel will be some distance from the tomb, but will be connected by a channel leading from the center of the floor through which the caskets will be conveyed by a sort of trolley arrangement. The chapel will have a heating system that will make it comfortable in the coldest weather. The work of construction throughout will be supervised by Mr. John Meagher.

For some time past, Magr. O'Brien has had in mind the construction of a receiving tomb in the cemetery for the convenience of those who may not wish to carry out the burials in cold weather. He has known of many instances in which people in poor health contracted fatal illness while attending burials in the cemetery. This can be avoided by using the receiving tomb. The intention is to have the burials conducted in the mild weather of spring.

Magr. O'Brien states that this undertaking will cost a very considerable amount of money, but he feels that the convenience that it will offer to

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

Party of Canadian Knights Templar Entertained at Vesper Country Club

Lowell played host to a number of distinguished Canadian Knights Templar this noon when several of the officers of Richard Cœur de Lion preceptory of Montreal, Canada, who have been visiting De Molay commandery, No. 7, K.T., in Boston during the past few days, were entertained at the Vesper Country Club by the council and past commanders of Pilgrim commandery, No. 3, of this city.

Guests included Robert J. Williamson, grand preceptor, with his party of 30, including a number of ladies, made the trip from Montreal by way of Lake George and the Berkshires and this afternoon started on their homeward journey by way of the White Mountains. Mayor Perry D. Thompson was one of the guests at this noon's luncheon.

Previously to May 2, the men received $1 an hour, and the employers reduced this to 75 cents an hour for the carpenters, and 50 cents for the plumbers and masons.

Later, the union men made a compromise offer of 80 cents an hour for all trades. The employers then offered 80 cents to the carpenters and 55 cents to masons and plumbers. In reference to arbitration, the union's representatives and the master carpenters' and masons' association have agreed that one member of the arbitration board should be selected by the union, and one by the employers. The employers desire to have Mayor Coughlin appoint the arbitrator. The union men wish to have the third man selected by the other members of the board, and in the event an agreement cannot be reached to have Mayor Coughlin serve as the third man. No decision as to the other arbitrator has been reached.

Pending arbitration the men returned to work on the following wage schedule: carpenters, 80 cents an hour, masons and plumbers, 55 cents an hour.

Those who use the cemetery warrants the expense.

Supt. Meagher is cleaning up the walks of the cemetery and making other preparations for the Memorial day observance.

ELECTION DAY IN IRELAND

Voting to Name 52 Members of Parliament From Northern Counties

Craig Urges People to Fly Union Jack—De Valera Makes Appeal

BELFAST, May 24.—Six counties of northern Ireland, Antrim, Armagh, Down, Fermanagh, Londonderry and Tyrone, and the parliamentary boroughs of Londonderry and Belfast engaged today in an election of members of the parliament of northern Ireland. This body, created by the Irish act, recently passed by the British parliament, will contain 52 members.

Voting began at 8 o'clock and government authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent disorder. Fighting, however, was apprehended in this city and in many districts where the people were called to the polls. All licensed public houses were closed, and all cars and markets arranged for today were postponed. The polls will close in most districts at 5 o'clock tonight, but in a few they will remain open until 9 o'clock.

Electoral night, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, premier-designate for Ulster, issued an appeal to members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag last night, even the sidewalks and lamp-posts being brilliant with the British colors.

The nationalists, who adopted as their slogan the cry of "No partition," have fought a hard battle, and Joseph Devlin has led his party in addressing meetings throughout the counties where voting took place today. Women took an active part in the campaign, holding demonstrations and canvassing voters.

De Valera Makes Plea

DUBLIN, May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Eamonn de Valera, the Irish republican leader, in a message to the Ulster constituencies last night said the votes of Northern Ulster can solve the Irish problem in the polling booth, he adds:

"Vote tonight against war with your fellow-countrymen. Vote that a brother's hand may not have to be raised against a brother, and so that there may be an end to the boycott and retaliation, and to partition, division and ruin."

"Lead the world by our example. Make a genuine people's peace and live in history as having created a truly united Irish nation. The orange and the green together can command the future."

Begins Probe of McGilvary Death

BOSTON, May 24.—District Attorney Peletier today began an investigation into the death of Paton C. McGilvary, former overseas flyer. Witnesses summoned by the district attorney included Mrs. Evelyn Clifford, a friend of McGilvary, in whose mail box on May 10, the day McGilvary was killed, was found a note which the police regarded as a farewell message from the former flyer. Dr. Leary and several police officers also were heard, together with most of the witnesses previously interrogated by them.

Excise Taxes Ordered Refunded

BOSTON, May 24.—Excise taxes collected by the state from the Hood Rubber Co., and the Olympia Theatres, Inc., in connection with the changing of stock of stated value into stock of no par value were ordered refunded today by the supreme court. Renew Efforts to End Ship Strike

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Secretary of Labor Davis continued his efforts today to bring about a settlement of the marine workers' wage controversy, planning to confer first with Winthrop L. Marvin, representing the American Ship Owners' association. Inasmuch as the two New York locals of the engineers' union have repudiated the agreement between Chairman Benson of the shipping board and members of the engineers' district council, reached late last week, there was some question as to who was authorized to speak for the engineers. Andrew Furuseth, president of the seamen's union, already has submitted a proposition to Secretary Davis and it was expected this would be considered today.
